

CITY'S TENANTS AT SEA IN SEIZED PROPERTY

Kirk St. Occupants Pay Rent to City—Hospital Site to be Graded—Dummer St. Seizure Planned

Persons occupying the buildings that have been seized by the city in Kirk and Anne streets to make way for the new high school are now the tenants of the city. There seems to be some doubt in the minds of people living there as to the actual status of affairs, though all that has occurred to date has been duly published in the papers. The order of seizure was passed by the city council at a recent meeting and the land has been actually seized from the day of the passage of the order. The tenants there have until Jan. 1, 1916, to vacate. Asked today as to the collections or payment of rent, the city solicitor said he had not thought seriously about it, but intimated that the rent would go to help liquidate the indebtedness due to the city.

At least two telephone calls were received at city hall this forenoon from persons seeking information concerning the seizure of the city of the Kirk street and Anne street property. "Am I a tenant of the city?" asked a woman who called Commissioner Putnam by phone. "Depends upon where you are living," said the commissioner. "I am living in Kirk street and in one of the houses to be torn down or removed," replied the good woman. "Then you are the city's tenant," said Mr. Putnam, and in order to make his voice sound sweet and pleasant he smiled in the telephone. "I am glad to know for sure just where we are at," said the lady, "for I want some work done."

It was too late for the commissioner to take a back seat and he had to hear the lady through. "There's a sink torn out of order, and I wish you would attend to it at once," she said. It was up to Newell E. Putnam and he promised to attend to the sink.

Dummer Street Extension

Having disposed of the question dealing with the status of the high school it will not be amiss, perhaps, to rehearse the Dummer street extension project, in part. At its meeting on Tuesday the municipal council instructed the city solicitor to draw up an order of seizure for the proposed extension of Dummer street, the order to include all of the land between the First Congregational church and Maiden lane. This order will, in all probability, be presented to the city council at its next meeting, but the council cannot proceed further in the matter until a public hearing is held. Those having to do with the seizure of this land have already been held but the city council is in the habit of doing things over and over again.

Well, anyway, the city solicitor is preparing the order of seizure and will submit it to the council. Various people have various views as to the desirability or feasibility of extending Dummer street and some who favor the extension do not favor the seizure of all of the land and buildings between the church and Maiden lane. But political expediency in this case is paramount.

The statement has been made that the taking away of the old buildings from Maiden lane to the church and between Market and Merrimack streets would not remove bad appearing buildings to disclose more dilapidated ones.

The writer looked the property over this morning. Conditions are conditions calling for the attention of the board of health. In between buildings and directly off Merrimack street there is a filthy hole used as a dump or graball and it is surprising that the health authorities have not discovered it. Regardless of the extension this pest hole should be attended to.

Property to be Seized

The following property will be included in the order of seizure: The old Bascom property, Henry J. O'Dowd, owner. This includes a building at 356 Merrimack street assessed for $1700; 1935 square feet of land assessed for $7500, making a total of $9200.

George C. and William P. Dempsey, trustees. This property includes a building in Merrimack street assessed for $600; 1935 square feet of land assessed for $7000, making a total of $7600.

Property of Margaret W. Merrill with a total assessment of $19,650. James P. Kelly, building at 355-357 Market street, assessed for $4000, and 4228 square feet of land valued at $6450, making a total of $10,450.

George C. and William P. Dempsey, trustees, building 353 Market street and Maiden lane, assessed for $2000, 3040 feet of land assessed for $4250 and 2242 square feet of land in the rear of 353 Merrimack street and in Maiden lane $25, making a total valuation of $8750, or a grand total of $10,450.

IMPORTANT VICTORY FOR RUSSIAN FORCES

Capture Several German Positions and 3500 Men—Serbians Hard Pressed

Russian armies which recently have been prosecuting a vigorous offensive movement with some success, on the southern end of their front, are now reported to have won an important victory further north, in the central district of the long front. An official communication from Petrograd announces the capture of several German positions in the neighborhood of Baranovitch, north of the Pripiet river. The Russian staff states that more than 3500 men, together with ten machine guns and one field piece, were captured.

Serbians Hard Pressed

The plight of Serbia's hard pressed forces, assailed on the north and east by the German and Bulgarian, is becoming desperate. As much is admitted in an official statement from Nish. This announcement confirms previous reports that the Bulgarians have captured Vranja on the Nish-Saloniki railroad. Communication on this line is at which efforts were expected to be the advance of French and British troops, whose arrival is being awaited with anxiety by the Serbians.

French Repel Germans

There are no signs of resumption of the offensive movement on the western front which has been expected in England and France. The only fresh activity disclosed in the day's reports are German attacks near Rheims and Souchez, and a small engagement in Lorraine. In every case, the French war office reports, the Germans were frustrated in efforts to reach the French lines.

Greece Still Undecided

Greece is still undecided what part she shall play in the operations in the Balkans. It is reported from Athens that new proposals have been made by the quadruple entente in an effort to procure the assistance of Greece. According to these advices, not only the island of Cyprus has been offered, but also an extension of the Greek boundary, at the expense of Bulgaria and Turkey, almost to Constantinople, as well as to include certain territory in Asia Minor.

King Replies to Pope Benedict

Pope Benedict has made another effort to hasten the conclusion of the war, requesting King Albert of Belgium to make the first move toward peace. The pope is said to have promised to use his influence with Germany to bring about the evacuation of Belgian territory in the event peace was concluded. King Albert, however, responded that he would not lay down his sword so long as Belgium was "in slavery."

NASHUA MURDER CASE

Four Men Arraigned Today—Conference Held on Strike—I. W. W. Leaders Arrive

NASHUA, N. H., Oct. 21.—Although a number of strikers and their friends gathered today for the expected preliminary hearing of three men arrested last night on charges of murder in connection with the death of James Stille, victim of a strike riot Tuesday, there was no disorder around the court room. None of the cases was heard, however.

City Marshal Healey announced to the court that Alexander Bershavitich and Peter Hardow would be arraigned later at the convenience of their counsel, who were engaged in a conference at which efforts were expected to be made to adjust labor differences which led to a strike of more than 4000 employees at the plant of the Nashua Manufacturing Co. and the Jackson Manufacturing Co.

Contas Beraski, the third man detained by the police, still not being arraigned, having stated that there was no evidence to connect him with the death of Stille.

Adam Sharple was still held today without bail following his arraignment yesterday on the charge of the murder of Stille. Sharple entered a plea of not guilty.

The police and the militia were on duty near the mills, but no disturbance had been reported early today. Interest centered in the outcome of the conference although there was no public indication as to whether the employer and the strikers would be able to reach an agreement.

No Patrol

Up until the time of the strike, the city of Nashua, which boasts of an elegant and equipped ambulance, was without a police patrol, and if an arrest was made previous to the first outbreak by the strikers, the offender was marched to the station house. Since the trouble on Monday an auto truck has been hired, and wooden benches nailed to either side. On Tuesday night the employer was driven about various parts of the city looking for possible outbreaks, but there was none.

I. W. W. Leaders Arrive

Joseph Litter and "Wild Bill" Hayward, leaders of the I. W. W., are expected to be present at a meeting of strikers to be held tonight in Hamlin hall, Nashua.

This morning a man giving his name as Caruso, and representing himself to be an I. W. W. leader, addressed the strikers at their regular morning meeting. Following the meeting it is said the majority of the strikers expressed themselves as being against the I. W. W. organization, while others seemed to favor it. Ex-Mayor William H. Barry, who has acted as counsel for the strikers since the beginning of the strike addressed the gathering at Caruso had concluded his speech, and informed them that he would endeavor connections with them in the event of their having anything to do with the I. W. W.

Golden Also

John Golden is also expected at Nashua tonight. Counsel Barry has notified the strikers he will have nothing further to do with them if they have anything to do with the I. W. W. leaders.

HEAVY SENTENCE MADE-IN-LOWELL GOODS

Head of the Moonshine Conspiracy Given 9 Years—Fined $33,000

FORT SMITH, Ark., Oct. 21.—John L. Casper of Kansas City, alleged head of the moonshine conspiracy, who pleaded guilty in the United States district court here yesterday, was sentenced today to nine years and three days in the Leavenworth penitentiary and ordered to pay a fine of $33,000. The six others who admitted guilt received sentences varying from six months in jail to two years in the penitentiary.

The committee of the board of trade, in charge of the industrial show of Lowell made goods is enthusiastic over the affair and according to reports which are being received daily at the quarters of the organization, the event will prove a novel attraction and a success far better than anything is looked for. It will open Nov. 15.

The mill agents, who have received a copy of the letter sent to all manufacturers met yesterday and after discussing the proposition at great length, it was deemed advisable to enter the show and in this manner demonstrate to the Lowell public what is being done in the local industries, and accordingly the committee has notified Co. Tremont & Suffolk mills, Heett mills, J. C. Ayer Co., C. J. Hood & Co., John Willing Shoe Co., Friend Bros. Lowell Paper Tube corporation, Lowell Insulated Wire Co., U. S. Cartridge

Co., Helms Electric Co., Lyon Carpet Co., Whitall Mfg. Co., Saco-Loell shops, J. E. Carroll & Co., Mrs. J. F. Farr, Sterling mills, Chalmers Spring company, Nemock Specialty company, D. L. Page company and American Hide & Leather Co., which means that about the entire hall has already been rented to exhibitors of all sorts of goods.

John P. Sawyer, cashier of the Union National bank, has been appointed treasurer of the exposition fund and he will handle all the money which comes in for that purpose.

The committee in charge of the show has decorators agreeing on the job of decorating both the interior and exterior of the building and it is predicted that the decorating scheme will be one of the best of its kind ever seen in the city.

Secretary John H. Murphy, of the board of trade in conversation with a reporter of The Sun this morning said he fears the Nashua, where the exhibition will be held, will be inadequate for the large number of local manufacturers who are contemplating exhibiting their products and he said in order to be assured of a space each manufacturer is requested to send in his order as soon as possible. Only one space is being reserved for each manufacturer, although several have asked as many as three spaces. More definite plans concerning the show will be published later.

Several other manufacturers have already replied satisfactorily while others have notified the board that their answers would be by mail. The manufacturers already listed, that is those who have selected spaces for their exhibits are as follows:

Appleton Co., Hamilton Mfg. Co., Lawrence Manufacturing company, Massachusetts mills, Merrimack Mfg. Co., Tremont & Suffolk mills, Heett mills, J. C. Ayer Co., C. J. Hood & Co., John Willing Shoe Co., Friend Bros. Lowell Paper Tube corporation, Lowell Insulated Wire Co., U. S. Cartridge

WALSH IN BERKSHIRES

Large Crowds Greet Governor Despite Rain — McCall First Named Crane, Says Governor

PITTSFIELD, Oct. 21.—Gov. Walsh ended his day and evening tour of western Massachusetts here late last evening, highly elated with the reception accorded him in the Berkshires Hills.

Daniel P. Coker, of Westfield, said that in all his experience he had never seen such numbers at political rallies. He meant by that that the smaller places where usually a baker's dozen and sometimes less is only to be found there were scores yesterday.

The most enthusiastic democrat admits that the office of governor is of itself a magnet for the people, but with that fact considered the governor and his party were greatly pleased at yesterday's experience.

The governor spoke outdoors in most places. The showers seemed to hold up for him. And it so happened that the rain turned out to be a blessing. Men who would have been engaged in farm work—this is a good fall for farming—just stayed in the village and in consequence they were all present to hear the democratic candidate for re-election.

"Are you with me in this fight?" asked the governor, with all the earnestness and power of his voice. "Then jump into the trenches."

Challenge to McCall

Continuing his personal appeal, the governor showed that his own record is that upon which he expects to win or lose. He tried also yesterday to arouse his republican opponent to discussion of state issues.

"I now ask Mr. McCall to begin to talk to the voters of Massachusetts on Massachusetts questions," said the governor.

"Where does he stand on the taxation question? What does he say about questions that concern the welfare of the people? What does he say about those bills that were rejected by the legislature? Was I right or was the legislature right?"

"If I was wrong he should say so. If I was right he should say so. If the legislature was wrong he ought to join with me in condemning the invisible government."

Gov. Walsh spoke yesterday at West Springfield, Westfield, Russell, Huntington, Chester, Stockbridge, Great Barrington, Lee and Lenox, and last night in this city, North Adams, and Adams. The rain interfered to some extent with his schedule, and because of road conditions some of the longer distances were reduced and certain places necessarily omitted.

The governor may come back next week and speak at towns where he could not stop yesterday.

He is "doing a hustler" as it is, having come up from Boston at midnight Tuesday night to Springfield, spending only a few hours' sleep, campaigning all day and evening and jumping on the midnight sleeper here last night for Springfield.

The school children turned out to greet him at West Springfield and this ceremony, which was apart from the rally, preceded it. At Westfield both school children and voters heard him in the town hall. There were at least 1000 at the former place and 500 at the latter.

At Russell there were more than 50 men, while at Huntington there were 300 children and adults. At Chester there were fully 100.

Stockbridge was decked with bunting to receive the governor. Dennis Morrissey of the school committee and P. J. Farrell and David P. Sullivan of the democratic town committee met him at East Lee and escorted him into town.

The pupils of all grades were lined up to salute the governor when he stood on the steps of the school. It was only sprinkling then and he led them in cheering for the flag.

Just then Congressman Allen T. Treadway came along and extended his felicitations. The governor proceeded to the piazza of the congressman's hotel and talked politics. Both the governor and the congressman were alert to the proper amenities, the exchange of which made a bit with the crowd.

In this city last night a rally was held at Lenox hall, which seats 1000 and which was more than filled. The governor also spoke here last evening at the Massachusetts state charities conference.

The Milk Bill Veto

Gov. Walsh said in part: "My republican opponent who has been within a few days in this section devoted a great deal of his time to a discussion of the milk question."

"His talk about arranging 'conferences' to deal with the problem reminds me of the old saying that talk is cheap because the republican candidate under cover of this vague promise of further talk has failed to offer or avoided offering a single definite suggestion to deal with the great question."

"He referred to my veto of the Ellis milk bill, so-called, but he carefully avoided stating whether he, if elected, would veto this bill which threatens destruction to the milk industry of the state."

"He cannot stand with the farmers and against them in this campaign. The men and women who are struggling for a livelihood on Massachusetts farms have the right to know whether the republican candidate will, if elected, sign or veto this bill."

"Though he has been the recognized leader of the republican party for the past year and a republican legislature was sitting in the state house, he neither raised his voice nor showed the slightest interest in any legislation affecting the farming interests of the state."

He failed to act when opportunity was given him; as a candidate now he fails to declare himself definitely upon this great problem.

Record on Milk Question

"In my inaugural message of 1914, when first elected governor of Massachusetts, I called attention to the steady decline of milk production in our state and of the importance of this food to the infants and invalids of the commonwealth and to all our citizens. I urged them that a public inquiry be made into the causes of the decline."

"Again, during the recent session of the legislature of 1915, on two separate occasions by special messages, I urged the legislature to take some action on this matter. I did more than that; I prepared and submitted to the legislature an order and asked for its immediate adoption."

"In the face of the facts which I laid before the legislature all action was refused; and I recall to my republican opponent that this legislature was controlled in both branches by the members of his party."

Gov. Walsh told his Pittsfield audience that when he previously discussed invisible government in this city, his opponent declared he referred to Senator Crane.

"I had not thought of Mr. McCall mentioning Senator Crane's name in this connection so that if Senator Crane finds himself called the invisible government he can thank Mr. McCall and not Gov. Walsh," said the governor.

The governor was followed by Jacob C. Morse, candidate for auditor, who came up from Boston especially for this rally.

McCALL BEGINS RALLIES

SPOKE IN SEVEN BOSTON WARD ROYALS LAST NIGHT—CARDS ISSUED URGING RECALL OF MAYOR CURLEY

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Preceded by 15 automobiles, bearing the Young Men's Republican College club with red fire torches, ex-Congressman McCall opened his Boston rallies with a tour of seven wards last night. Owing to a delay in reaching Boston from Worcester county, he was unable to speak in Allston, ward 12 and ward 17, as scheduled.

Good-sized audiences greeted him and all the speakers expressed pleasure at the size of the gatherings, in such inclement weather. The tour was held unusually early in the campaign and large republican attendances were not expected, according to managers of the tour.

Grafton D. Cushing spoke at the rallies in Roxbury, Dorchester, Jamaica Plain, Roslindale and Hyde Park. At all of them he urged citizens to get out and vote on the recall of Mayor Curley in Boston a week from Tuesday.

At most of the rallies cards were distributed calling on one side for the election of ex-Surveyor of the Port Edward G. Graves as sheriff, and on the other side for votes in favor of the recall of Mayor Curley. Mr. Graves in his speeches urged the voters particularly to remember two features of the election this year: "If you recall me, you recall the recall of Mayor Curley."

Mr. McCall's first speech in Boston was given in the Municipal building, ward 16, Dorchester, and in turn he spoke in Bloomsfield hall, ward 20, Dorchester; the Library building at Codman square, ward 24, Dorchester; the four-story hall, ward 22, Jamaica Plain; the Charles Sumner school, Ashland street, ward 23, Roslindale; Waverly hall, Hyde Park and the Dudley street opera house, ward 21, Roxbury.

Chairman Edward A. Thurston of the Republican state committee represented Mr. McCall at the headquarters of the Republican club of ward 25, Allston. He also spoke in the Hotel Langham, ward 12, in the ward 17 republican headquarters at 27 Dudley street and at the Dudley street opera house.

The procession of automobiles, with a bugler in the first car, created great interest along the roads. When the procession reached the municipal building on Columbia road, Dorchester, Mr. McCall was speaking inside to about 200, including a number of women. He had been enthusiastically greeted and received a cheer at the conclusion of his speech.

LOWELL BOY IN CASE PRAISED BY GOV. WALSH

WAS SHOT AFTER 4TH OF JULY ESCAPADE BY MAN WHOSE GATE WAS REMOVED

The trial of Franklin Brown, indicted for aggravated assault on several Fourth of July celebrators on the night of the last Fourth in Chichester, took place yesterday afternoon in Merriam, N. H. county superior court, before Judge Oliver W. Branch and a jury.

The young man named in the indictment, as being hit by shot from a gun fired by Mr. Brown, after they had torn a gate from his fence and dragged it along the street, was Fred Russell of Lowell, Mass. Noah Edmunds, Doran Sanborn, Edmund Hagis and Nathaniel Edmunds.

None of the young men was seriously injured. Mr. Brown, who is 38 years of age and has been a life-long resident of Chichester, did not deny firing the gun, but asserted with positiveness that he had no intention of hitting the young men. He says he fired at the ground, desiring only to frighten them. The evidence showed that he succeeded in considerably accelerating their speed as they toted along the gate. Also that they did not do any more celebrating that night.

Youths Attended Church

It appeared from the testimony that most of the young men implicated passed the early part of the evening attending church, to hear the gospel preached. Donald Sanborn, explained to Senator Nathaniel D. Martin, who conducted the case for the defense. The Fourth was on Sunday, this year. After the church service it appeared that they either went home to get a few hours sleep before midnight or just staid around quietly. Russell testified that in reality he was an innocent bystander, as he was coming from a visit a quarter of a mile beyond Brown's house and happened along just as the youngsters were pulling the gate from the hinges and Brown came out with the gun. Russell got shot in the calf of either leg, the scars of which were shown to the jury.

The defense finished yesterday afternoon and Senator Martin had on three witnesses before adjournment. County Solicitor Murchie appeared to be trying to show that Brown fired on the young men without warning. Senator Martin's aim, apparently, was to show that Brown had been annoyed by Fourth of July celebrators many times in the past. Mr. Brown said they had been pestering him for 25 years.

NEWARK SHOE STYLES

The new fall styles in shoes have been received at the local store of the Newark Shoe Stores Co., and are now on display in the window.

Truly it is an impressive sight to see so many beautiful and stylish shoes on display at one place.

There is a style, it seems, for every occasion, and a shoe for every purpose. There are shoes for dress, work, and sports of all sorts, all at $2.50. There are also plenty of models for the young "Hopalong" which sell at $1.50, $2, $2.50—according to size.

One of the greatest features of the Newark shoe is that it is made by the Goodyear welt method, same as $5, $6, and $7 shoes, which the Newark people claim, and which they state is evidenced by a careful comparison with higher priced shoes.

The range of styles consist of the newest, two-toned fabric top effects, the more sombre shades predominating this season.

All styles are shown in a variety of custom low toes, semi-high toes, with the Goodyear welt and the "Wingfoot" heel and Goodyear fibre rubber soles are shown in all the latest effects.

The new color in tan calf high boots is quite the thing this season and may be seen in splendid varieties at the Newark Shoe Stores, 5 Central street.

Even the posts of house physician and house surgeon in the English hospitals, heretofore always held by men, are now offered to women.

STATE CHARITIES SESSION OPENS IN PITTSFIELD—RAID SOCIAL WELFARE EXHIBIT

PITTSFIELD, Oct. 21.—The Massachusetts state conference of charities began its 12th session here last night with about 120 delegates present.

The delegates began to gather at the Maplewood hotel early yesterday afternoon, and 70 were taken in automobiles to the Burnham industrial farm at Quechee, N. Y., just across the state line, where a model corrective school for boys is maintained very largely by the contributions of the summer residents of Berkshire county. Returning, the delegates passed through the resort towns of Stockbridge and Lenox.

Rev. Michael J. Scanlan of the Catholic Charity bureau of Boston, president of the conference, gave an informal dinner at the Maplewood before the opening of the conference, having Mayor George W. Faulkner of Pittsfield and several of the speakers of the conference as his guests.

Conference Opens

The conference opened at 7:45 o'clock. The stage was decorated with national and state flags.

Gov. Walsh, who had been making a speaking trip in the Berkshires, arrived early and was warmly received. He said in part: "The care of our state depends upon the interest in these great charitable problems which relate so intimately to the happiness and prosperity of our people."

"That there are so many self-sacrificing men and women in public spirited organizations interested in the promotion of charity is indicative of the healthy public spirit that has made Massachusetts a recognized leader in the care of its unfortunate."

"You are engaged in promoting one of the most enlightened and humanitarian functions of the government, for all that is sold and done, the noblest and most satisfying service of the government, like that of the individual, is the service done for the weak and the helpless."

"Without your assistance the burden resting upon the government in maintaining hospitals for the care of the invalid and the mentally weak, homes for the support of the aged and poor, schools for the blind and the deaf and correctional institutions for the wayward would be overwhelming."

"What you and your societies have contributed to the commonwealth cannot be estimated in dollars and cents. Instead of expending more than $5,000,000, as now required for what may be termed 'charitable purposes,' the state government, without your services and the large number of private hospitals and homes for the aged and infirm, nurseries for the care of the children, would be obliged to demand from our citizens easily double their present contribution from our taxes."

Gov. Walsh Thanks Workers

"The people of this state are vitally interested in your organization and in its deliberations. They will watch with keen interest the discussion of the problems which you are seeking here to solve in the interest of humanity. In their name, I thank you one and all for what you have done for Massachusetts and her people."

The delegates were welcomed to Pittsfield by Judge Charles L. Hibbard, Rev. F. R. Scanlon, responding to Mayor Faulkner, for the city of Pittsfield, expressed the pleasure Pittsfield has in entertaining the conference.

The annual address by Pres. Scanlon was then given. He was followed by the speaker of the evening, Alfred W. Donovan, chairman of the Massachusetts state board of labor and industries, whose topic was "Massachusetts Contribution to Industrial Health and Happiness."

A remarkable social welfare exhibit, showing the work of inmates of various institutions, is being made at 225 North street.

Many Pittsfield homes were opened for the entertainment of the delegates and a special committee met the delegates at the station with their automobiles.

Everything points to one of the most important conferences of its kind ever held in the state.

OLDEST VOTER AN ANTI

Gilbert West, Aged 92, of Pittsfield, Pleased at Defeat of Suffrage in New Jersey

PITTSFIELD, Oct. 21.—Gilbert West, aged 92, the oldest voter in Pittsfield, was tickled yesterday morning when he read of the defeat of suffrage in New Jersey.

"I am opposed to woman suffrage," said he. "The town meeting never was any place for women. The city election polling places are no better. The place for a woman is in her home and not out electoneering or dabbled in politics."

Mr. West first voted for Martin Van Buren for president in 1836 and has voted at every national or state election since.

LOVELY, RANG FIRE ALARM

Blackton Boy Shows Chief Deley How It Was Done—Mother to Keep Him Tied in Yard

BLACKTON, Oct. 21.—These are some days for little Elmore Melis, aged 4 of Oak street, as his older brother is in school and there are no playmates living near. Elmore entertained the long hours last Saturday by turning in an alarm from box 523 and there was plenty of excitement in the neighborhood at the time.

Little Elmore couldn't stand it any longer, so pulled in another false alarm yesterday, summoning apparently from three stations at a cost of $50 to the city. The little fellow again denied that he did it, saying his older brother was responsible, but it transpired the brother was in school.

Assistant Chief Justus H. Daley asked Elmore just how his brother did it. The lad climbed a pole, reached out, stood on a stone wall and leaned over to the box and was about to ring it again when Chief Daley interfered, satisfied, however, that Elmore was responsible. The boy's mother has promised to keep him tied in the yard.

Enough Coke to Run a Whole Fleet

On the basis of last year's figures we estimate that 50,000 tons of Lowell Coke will be used this coming winter.

Do you think for a moment that any such vast amount would be bought unless actual experience had proved that Lowell Coke gives absolute satisfaction and saves money?

Perhaps the reason you still stick to coal, put up with the dirt, dust, gas, clinkers, ashes, heavy lifting—and pay the extra $2.50 a ton,—is because you don't realize that Coke has become the modern fuel. Lowell Coke is better than the best coal. 90 per cent. pure carbon.

TAX ON MARRIED MEN

SHOULD BE HIGHER, NEW YORK PROFESSOR SAYS—WAR RESULT OF OVER-POPULATION

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Matrimony should be discouraged by compelling a man to pay a heavier tax than bachelors, Prof. Joseph French Johnson of New York university declared before a state legislative tax investigation committee yesterday.

Prof. Johnson was called with other citizens by the committee chairman, State Senator Charles L. Mills, to air their views on revising the general tax system of the state.

Discussion of a proposed income tax caused Prof. Johnson to assert his disapproval of showing favoritism to married men.

"I would not exempt married men," he said. "I would not give any preference to a man who is married over a bachelor because I do not believe it is a good thing to encourage matrimony by lowering taxation."

"I would discourage matrimony by making the married man pay a heavier tax. I think we should not do anything to encourage matrimony and child bearing."

Prof. Johnson then explained that he agreed with the theory of Thomas R. Malthus that population has a tendency to increase faster than the means to support it.

"I believe that the awful war over in Europe is the result of the fact because the human race has refused to see the lessons of this doctrine, which were taught 100 years ago," said the professor.

PAWTUCKET BRIDGE AGAIN

Harry W. J. Howe Requests State Highway Commission to Investigate Condition of Bridge

Relative to the alleged unsafe condition of Pawtucket bridge, Mr. Harry W. J. Howe has sent the following letter to the state highway commission:

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 20, 1915.

State Highway Commission, Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen:—As a citizen of Lowell and resident of the section of the city known as Pawtucketville, I desire to call the attention of your honorable body to the present deplorable and unsafe condition of the flooring of the bridge at Pawtucket falls, known as "Pawtucket bridge."

During the past few months the wheels of several heavily loaded wagons and auto trucks have gone through the flooring to the hubs as the result of the floor beams having rotted to a pulp.

At each time of accident these breaks have been repaired with a solitary floor plank, while the partition timbers beneath the floor planking are permitted to remain, and about weekly there is noted in the public press the report of another loaded team has gone through the Pawtucket bridge.

The city council of Lowell appears to regard the dangerous condition as utterly unimportant and because of its attitude of lethargy and culpable indifference the people of Lowell crossing this span are subjecting themselves to the possible danger of losing their lives in one of the greatest catastrophes Lowell has ever known. It is a matter of little consequence to the people as to who shall be held criminally responsible in the event of disaster and human lives crushed out on the rocks to sea below.

Assuming that your honorable body has superior jurisdiction over the public highways of the commonwealth, and when municipal authorities become lax in their duty failing to regard the public safety of its citizens as a matter of any importance, the only recourse seems to be in appealing to authorities higher up to step in and demand necessary action.

I would respectfully request that the state highway commission at once cause a thorough investigation of the bridge floor beams and planking, and if found unsafe for unrestricted travel, that the Lowell city authorities be awakened from their lethargy and compelled to take prompt action to repair the bridge.

Very respectfully,
Harry W. J. Howe.

THE ZEPPELIN MENACE

BARON SYDONHAM CRITICISED LONDON DEFENSES IN HOUSE OF LORDS

LONDON, Oct. 21, 2.55 a.m.—The Zeppelin menace occupied the greater part of the time last evening in the house of lords.

Baron Sydonham, who for many years was in the Royal Engineers, criticised the London defenses. "The great difficulties of obtaining protection against aircraft bombs," he said, "have not yet been appreciated. The Zeppelin must first be found by searchlight, the range of which is often considerably less than that of the gun and is influenced largely by atmospheric conditions. The gunner must know the range within very narrow limits of accuracy. The time fuse of the shell must be set very accurately. The sighting of the gun, moreover, is a matter requiring the greatest skill. To put untrained and unpracticed men in charge of guns like these is foolish."

"My impression of the shooting in the last raid is that much of it was at random, the shells bursting nowhere near the Zeppelin."

"The question of the illumination of London is a difficult one. The illumination is kept so low as to prevent the Zeppelin crew from recognizing special objects in the city; nothing can be gained from further decreasing it. The lower the illumination becomes, the easier it is for those in the Zeppelins to see signals which spies may be flashing. I think we have now gone too far in reducing the illumination for when fog comes it will make traffic in the streets very difficult. The suggestion that aeroplanes should cruise over London nightly when Zeppelins are expected is useless. We already have lost some lives and damaged a great many aeroplanes by sending them up on wild goose chases in the dark. The real chance for an aeroplane is to strike at the Zeppelins when they arrive at the coast and before the light fails. I am strongly opposed to reprisals. I believe we can assure ourselves with proper organization and the proper handling of guns that these raids will cease."

The Earl of Portsmouth, in urging that the populace be notified on the approach of Zeppelins, said it was only a mistake that at the time of the last raid, there was no fearful catastrophe in a certain place of entertainment.

THE POLICE CONVENTION

STATE ASSOCIATION HOLDING 15TH ANNUAL SESSION AT HAVERHILL—LOWELL MEN ATTEND

The 15th annual state convention of the Massachusetts State Police Association, which opened in Haverhill yesterday forenoon and is being attended by a delegation of Lowell members, will be brought to a close late this afternoon with the election of officers. State President John J. Sullivan of Lawrence is presiding.

The convention is being staged at the Elks' home on Summer street. Yesterday after Mayor Bartlett had welcomed the delegates to the city, there were several opening speeches and the report of the committee on credentials was read. Other reports were read and the election committees were appointed. There is no contest for president this year as it is the custom of the association to choose its head officer for two years. There are brisk battles, however, for places on the executive committee, there being 20 candidates for eight positions.

Last night the delegates enjoyed a banquet in Elks' hall with speeches by several prominent city and state officials. This morning the visitors were treated to an automobile tour of the city and upon their return will proceed to the election of officers.

FLEET WILL DECIDE WAR

WINSTON SPENCER CHURCHILL MAKES STATEMENT—INVOKES NELSON'S SPIRIT

LONDON, Oct. 21.—"Germany aims at world domination, and against world domination the British fleet from the time of Queen Elizabeth to the present day has always been found the surest and most effective protection." The contribution of A. J. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, to the navy league's symposium in connection with today's observance of Trafalgar day.

Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty and present chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster, writes in part: "For six months no hostile fleet has been outside the British waters. We are stronger than ever and more ready for any eventuality. The great strategic conclusions upon which our naval disposition is based have been vindicated. From its strategic threat and northern storms, the fleet will dominate and will finally decide the fate of the warring nations and by that formidable combination, strength and patience, will secure the victory of our just cause."

"On land good days have not yet come. The valiant Russian front wears thin. The French and British offensive in the west has plowed but has not sown. The German fortified lines. Through our long delays the enemy has seized a new initiative in the near east and the oriental inclination in his war policy raises new perils of peculiar significance to us. A hazardous struggle, vast expense and hard privation lie before us."

"Courage! All's well with the fleet. The destruction of German military manhood is irreplaceable. Enter the shield of the navy every mistake can be retrieved; every neglect can be repaired. The choice to save or to lose the freedom of the world rests still with the British people and their leaders. The spirit of Nelson and the memory of Trafalgar should rouse us now to sustain unwearingly the darkening conflict, and by proceeding to all necessary extremes and by laying aside every impediment to rescue Britain from dishonor and Europe from ruin."

NOMINATIONS BY GOV. WALSH
BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Ernest E. Smith of Boston, one of the most active members of the progressive party for the past three years, and a member of the Boston city council from 1911 to 1914, was nominated by Governor Walsh yesterday as a member of the minimum wage commission to succeed Rev. Robert E. Disbree, at present chairman of the board, who has resigned.

The governor also sent to the executive council the appointment of Chas. R. Chase of Fall River to be a trustee of the Bradford-Durfee Textile school in that city. Chase succeeds George E. Prest, resigned.

Both nominations were laid over for a week, under the rules. The meeting of the council was brief. Lieut. Gov. Cushing presiding in the absence of Gov. Walsh.

MUNITIONS FOR RUSSIA

JAPAN TO FURNISH SUPPLIES IN RETURN FOR COMPLETE CESSATION OF ISLAND OF SAKHALIN

LONDON, Oct. 21, 1.47 a. m.—The Cologne Gazette, a copy of which has been received here, publishes a report which it says passed the Russian censor, that Japan has undertaken to supply Russia with munitions in return for a complete cessation of the island of Sakhalin.

The island of Sakhalin, 370 miles long and from seventeen to 30 miles wide, lies between the east coast of Asia and the northern islands of the Japanese archipelago. Russia owns the northern and Japan the southern end of the island.

GEN. SMUTS WINS OUT

RE-ELECTED TO PARLIAMENT BY
PRETORIA CONSTITUENCY—MANY LEADERS DEFEATED

CAPE TOWN, via London, Oct. 21. 8.49 a. m.—General Jan O. Smuts, minister of the interior, mines and defence of the Union of South Africa, has been re-elected to parliament by the Pretoria constituency, over the Nationalist and Labor candidates.

The triumph of Gen. Smuts in Pretoria is the only indication thus far of the probable outcome of the contest between the adherents of Premier Botha and J. B. M. Hertzog, former minister of justice. The Unionists are proving unexpectedly strong, having already returned thirty members, which was the total conceded the party before the polling began. The strong showing of the Unionists thus far is accounted for by the fact that the returns from the cities of Cape Province have been received before those of the country districts, where the South African and Nationalist parties dominate.

Towns in other provinces which have reported, voted heavily for Gen. Botha's South African party. The Nationalist returns thus far have been poor but are expected to improve with the rural reports.

A number of leaders in all the parties apparently have suffered reverses. This is especially true of the standard bearers of the Labor party which has been split in twain by the factions for and against Gen. Botha. Frederick H. Creswell, a Labor leader, who has supported Gen. Botha, was defeated in two constituencies in which he was a candidate.

CONGRATULATE VON KLUCK

Messages Pour in on Veteran German General—Was in the Service for a Period of 50 Years

BERLIN, Oct. 21. (By wireless to Sayville, N. Y.)—Gen. Alexander H. R. von Kluck, the famous commander of the German first army in the drive through Belgium and France during the early months of the war, who was wounded by shrapnel in the front in France last spring, received a correspondent of the Overseas News agency on the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the general's entrance into the German army service.

As the correspondent was paying his respects to the general, he received "heartily congratulations were coming in by messengers from all over the empire. A special remembrance from Emperor William to the general, which the correspondent was shown, was a beautiful portrait of the emperor.

"The general's health is restored and he is ready for a return to duty, although one wound on his shoulder, is still open. Looking the picture of vigor and not a day over 50, the general, strolling around the garden of his lovely home, told the correspondent the story of his campaign through Belgium and France and how he came to receive his wound. FAMOUS ACTRESS SAYS
COFFEE HARMS
COMPLEXION

Declares Coffee Habit Grows on One,
Dulls the Mind, and Weakens
the Muscles.

People who desire to retain youthful looks and a clear, healthy skin, may be surprised to learn that so eminent an authority on beauty as Lillian Russell declares, in a recent issue of the Chicago Herald, that "both coffee and tea have a harmful effect on the complexion. The most youthful skin can be made dry and sallow by the overindulgence of tea or coffee.

"It always depresses me when I hear a woman say, 'I must have a cup of coffee the first thing in the morning, and generally sip it in bed.' She would be shocked if she heard someone else say that they must have a cocktail before they could begin the day.

"I heard a most beautiful old woman say, 'Do you think I would dry up my blood and ruin my skin by drinking tea?'

"The coffee habit grows on one, and when coffee is used as a stimulant there is a reaction, which means depression and causes over indulgence or the use of stronger stimulants, in the continued use, stimulants dull the mind and weaken the muscles."

NOTE.—It is a satisfaction to know that in the pure footlock, instant Postum, increasing thousands are finding a delightful morning beverage—a beverage free from drugs or any harmful substance, and free from coffee's ills, but rich in those food elements supplied by Nature for building good blood and strong, healthy bodies.

RUSSIA CONTRADICTS REPORT OF
CAPTURE BY BULGARIANS—
GREAT BATTLE CONTINUES

ATHENS, Oct. 20, via Paris, Oct. 21. 3.45 p. m.—A despatch received by the Russian legation announces that the Bulgarian troops have not taken Vranja, as has been reported. They are said to have been held up by the formidable defenses of Vlasina. However, they have succeeded in occupying the railroad north of the town. The great battle continues, it is stated, and remains indecisive. French troops guarding the communications are said to have left Glevet in the direction of Vranja.

The Serbian legation denies that the Bulgarians have occupied Zajcar. It is stated that the two forts which the Bulgarians claim to have taken are ancient works for temporary fortifications which were erected in 1913 and which the Serbians did not consider it worth while to defend, the defenses of Zajcar having been moved to the rear.

Considerable business was transacted at last evening's meeting of Industry council, 1722, Royal Arcanum, held with Regent Harvey J. Chase in the chair. The report of the auditing committee showed the council to be in a good financial condition. It was announced that a whist party would be held in connection with the next meeting. Following the meeting supper was served in the banquet hall under the direction of Brother Ralph Harvey. There were remarks by Supreme Supt. of Police Welch, piano solos by Harold Mechn and songs by John P. Roane, Jr., Harold Hennessey, James E. Gorman and Thomas Baxter.

BRITISH TRENCH BLOWN UP

London Official Report Says Garrison Escaped Turkish Mine—Little Fighting Above Ground

LONDON, Oct. 21.—A British official communication dealing with the operations on the Gallipoli peninsula, made public last night, says:

"The general officer commanding the Mediterranean expedition reports that during the last week there has been little to report as regards the operations above ground, but that on both sides mining activity has been considerable.

"At Hill 60 the Turks exploded a mine at an evidently predetermined hour. Unfortunately for the enemy the mine exploded beneath his own lines and entanglements, causing much damage to his own trench but none to ours.

"In another part of our line the enemy succeeded in exploding a mine under our trenches. The garrison, however, had already been withdrawn, but five of our miners working underground were buried alive and given up as lost. Three days later, having dug themselves out, they reappeared, little worse for their ordeal."

5000 KILLED YEARLY BY TRAINS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—More than 5000 persons are killed each year while trespassing on railroad tracks or stealing rides on trains, according to figures presented at yesterday's session of the fourth annual congress of the National Safety council. This does not include grade crossing accidents, which have increased since the automobile became a common vehicle, according to the report presented to show the great waste of life in the United States.

"The man who drinks, even moderately, is unfit to drive an automobile, and should be forbidden to sit at the wheel of any car," said J. C. Rose, chief claim agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, in an address. He urged that drivers' licenses be issued only to total abstainers.

HAMBURG-AMERICAN OFFICIALS VISIT GLOUCESTER—IN BOSTON HARBOR SINCE WAR STARTED

GLOUCESTER, Oct. 21.—Three representatives of the Hamburg-American line interviewed Mayor Barrett and Harbor Master A. V. Spurr yesterday relative to the possibility of bringing to this port the steamers Cincinnati and Amerika, which have been in Boston harbor since the war began.

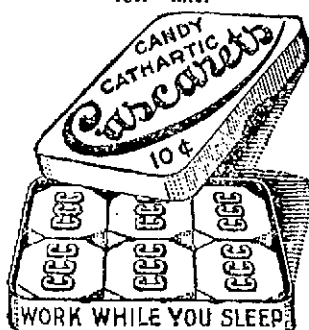

The depth of water, shelter from storms and cost of supplies were discussed at length, and apparently came up to specifications.

William Mosher of Boston and Frank Legendre Injured While Working in Theatre at Lawrence

LAWRENCE, Oct. 21.—William Mosher of 31 Emerson st., Boston, was badly burned on the hips and legs and Frank Legendre of 120 Lowell st., this city, was less seriously injured when an explosion occurred yesterday afternoon in a small shed opposite the new Empire theatre, Lawrence st. Both were employed as painters on the theatre. Mosher's clothing was in flames when he ran into the open. An alarm was sounded from box 13 and the flames were extinguished after a few hundred dollars' worth of paint and other materials were destroyed. The injured men were taken to the General Hospital and Legendre was able to go home.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—President Wilson yesterday advised W. A. F. Ekengren, Swedish minister here, that he could do nothing further for Joseph Hillstrom, a Swedish citizen, under death sentence in Utah for murder.

At the request of Minister Ekengren, the president several weeks ago asked Governor Spry to postpone Hillstrom's execution until new evidence could be presented. A stay was granted, but no material evidence having been presented, the state now is preparing to carry out the court's sentence.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

OPERA HOUSE

If you want to see a good play go to the Opera House. "Maggie Pepper," Rose Stahl's latest success, is the big noise and the packed houses at this popular playhouse all the week are proof of its popularity. "Maggie Pepper" is a play which has been running in the city since the opening of the season. There is none in which she has had so much opportunity to display her remarkable versatile talents, and she is in this piece admirably. Homer Barton, too, is scoring a tremendous hit as Joe Hallbrook and fits the character to the very letter. Also Graham, Lark, Booth, Henry Crossen, Harry Crossen, Cary Matney, Carson, Laverport, Gertrude Shirley, May Gerold, Margery Cutting, Richard Barry and other members of the company are doing fine.

There are many beautiful scenic settings in "Maggie Pepper" and of special interest is a beautiful display of flowers, secured from the court of the J. L. California company. The entire production is one that will not soon be forgotten by the theatre goers.

tions of Lowell. Secure seats now for the remaining performances.

Sunday afternoon and night, the Opera House will furnish another gala program of vaudeville and picture features with five big acts and as many reels of the latest pictures. The Opera House has given wonderful Sunday shows and next Sunday's promises to surpass any of them, with "That Sentiment," a class, musical or melodrama as one of the features. Seats are now selling for both the performances, so get yours early and be sure of a good night's entertainment.

Next week, starting with a special hon ton matinee on Monday, the Emerson Players will present that great success, "Bought and Paid For." This is the play that everybody in Lowell has been waiting to see. It is a play with a great dramatic wallop. Patrons are advised to secure their seats for as early in the week as possible, and as many as are able to come on Monday and Tuesday as the attraction positively limited to one week and hundreds are certain to be turned away at all performances. Seats are now selling for the entire week.

So telling of the plot can give you anything more than a faint idea of the wonderful character drawings of the play. There are four very important roles, each representing a different and distinct type, and features a faithful composite portrait of a modern class with whom most of you are familiar. In fact, so cleverly are the characters shown and so realistic is the language placed in the mouths of the principals that you cannot help but liken these people to persons you have known.

B. F. KUTIS THEATRE

"The Fashion Show" at the Keith theatre, this week, completely fills the bill once more. It is proving to be a real headline diversion, put forward in a thoroughly fascinating manner, and with the additional claim of having four real Broadway models on whom are built the most charming gowns of the present mode. Hugo Jensen, who is uncommonly bright in his ideas, is the particular feature of the company, although his assistance throughout is of the very best. Eric Carr, as a rube comedian; Blanche La Tell, as "Neutragia," his daughter, and Helen Juliette as his chief model are all most satisfactory. The three other models have come direct to the musical comedy from several of the best model establishments in New York.

A New Remedy for Kidney, Bladder and all Uric Acid Troubles

Dr. Eberle and Dr. Braithwaite as well as Dr. Simon—all distinguished authorities—agree that whatever may be the disease, the uric acid fails in furnishing us with a clue to the principles upon which it is to be treated, and accurate knowledge concerning the nature of disease can thus be obtained. If backache, swelling urine or frequent urination bother or distress you, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, gout or sciatica or you suspect kidney or bladder trouble, just write Dr. Pierce at the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., send a sample of urine and describe symptoms. You will receive free medical advice after Dr. Pierce's chemist has examined the urine—this will be carefully done without charge, and you will be under no obligation. Dr. Pierce during many years of experimentation has discovered a new remedy which is thirty-seven times more powerful than uric in removing uric acid from the system. If you are suffering from backache or the pains of rheumatism, go to your best druggist and ask for Dr. Pierce's. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak women and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood have been favorably known for the past forty years and more. They are standard remedies today—as well as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for the liver and bowels. You can have samples of any one of these remedies in tablet form by writing Dr. Pierce—Adv.

MEIRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Laura Hope Crews, the celebrated star whose fame as an entertainer has spread broadcast throughout the land, makes her second appearance at the Merrimack Square theatre today. She will be seen today, tomorrow and Saturday in her latest Paramount success, "Blackbirds," shown in five acts. There is another feature of the bill for these three days. It is "The Jewel," featuring the attractive and captivating Ella Hall. You will be delighted at Miss Hall's excellent interpretation in this absorbing five-act masterpiece. One has but to stop and consider for the briefest of moments to realize that this theatre offers a longer program of feature plays at a much lower price of admission than many of the Boston theatres. The remaining numbers Friday and Saturday are a humorous hit and the Paramount Travel pictures.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Don't forget the "Amateur program" tonight. There is nothing theatrically drier than the hour passed with the tyros. Suitable prizes are always awarded, and the audience is the jury. From its decision there is no appeal. In addition, picture classics are given in the usual picture theatre style. "The Fawns of Mars," a war drama that makes an appeal for peace, and "The Gambler," a humorous play, are the featured bills for these three days. FACT VS. BUNCOMBE

Every day of the present campaign reveals more and more the insincerity of the republican campaigners and their lack of a real issue. Their spellbinders are studiously refraining from attacking Governor Walsh or his administration, except in a vague and indirect manner, and while they condemn any attempt of the democrats to make capital out of the administration of Woodrow Wilson, they are basing most of their appeals on attacks on the tariff bill, the Mexican situation, etc. Meanwhile the democratic candidates are dealing with facts that hit home to this state, feeling that the people will know how to decide at this time between those who attack the Wilson administration and those who support it.

Mr. McCall is still shouting about the tariff. In Brockton he condemned the placing of shoes on the free list and in Fall River he condemned the tariff on cotton. He also condemned some of Governor Walsh's appointments, mindful of the fact that in appointments no governor could possibly please everybody, and also feeling in the good old stand-pat way that everything politically desirable belongs by right divine to the republicans. With regard to the tariff—and we wonder how Mr. McCall's election would affect the tariff one way or the other—the republican candidate professes to fear that with the end of the war there will be a great importation of cotton fabrics. This is sheer nonsense. We may have to compete with foreign countries in the extension of our markets abroad, but such competition is necessary for healthy trade. To see what the stopping of competition would do, one has but to study the chemical situation. Chemicals that are made here and that have no competition from German products have soared in price to astonishing figures, without any apparent reason other than the greed of the manufacturer who knows that he has the consumer at his mercy. Let the people beware lest at this time of war scares the great business interests get concessions for which the country will eventually pay dearly.

The tariff is only a very slight consideration of our recent national program. It was passed with the approval of a president who has admittedly kept us out of war. With a leader of a different temperament, we might now be in the hellish struggle. Where, then, would be our industry or prosperity and what would a high tariff avail us? The greatest feat of our national administration has been in the conduct of our foreign affairs, and no partisan opponent of intelligence attacks our foreign affairs. The administration has kept peace with dignity and has triumphed against the greatest military system that the world has ever seen, thus safeguarding the rights of neutrals and setting the United States up as a shining light in a dismal world. If the national administration is made an issue by Mr. McCall, the democrats of Massachusetts need not fear to stand solidly behind President Wilson.

WALSH FOR PROGRESS

Republicans make very extravagant claims for the scholarly attainments of Mr. McCall. They say that he has made some very fine addresses and written some books which are too literary to be popular. Democrats do not contend the point, but while admitting that he is a talented and cultured gentleman they make the counter claim that Governor David I. Walsh has shown more interest in the education of the great masses of the people than any former governor of Massachusetts. This practical interest of Governor Walsh has been shown by his long and strenuous fight for the extension of higher education to all, a fight which has secured for the people of this state free correspondence schools and educational extension departments in the working out of which opportunities for education will be placed at the service of all. No one who has heard Governor Walsh expound his ideas for the advancement of education could doubt his sincerity or misunderstand the pardonable pride with which he points to his achievements for education as one of his most notable services to the state.

In speaking of his fight for educational extension at recent rallies, Governor Walsh reminded his hearers that during the last quarter of a century over 50,000 people have registered and paid for correspondence education in a single private correspondence institution, paying out many millions for education that might have been given by the state at a slight cost. It is a matter for common knowledge to all that every year many in this city take up such private correspondence courses or else go several evenings per week to Boston at great expense to get an education that with the development of Governor Walsh's plans will be available in Lowell under state auspices. The governor does not wish to supplant the colleges or to interfere with their great activities, but he has striven to give all who aspire to higher education a chance to satisfy their most laudable ambition with the approval and support of leading educators. A republican legislature has made a petty appropriation this year but it will suffice to start the work.

and when principle conquers partisanship, the educational plan of Governor Walsh will be acknowledged by all as a great progressive step for the advancement of the people.

LOWELL-MADE GOODS

There is every reason to anticipate that the great industrial exposition to be held in the Casino for five days commencing November 15 will be a real success. It ought to appeal to the public for it is free of charge and will be entertaining and educational to a great extent, and the opportunity will appeal to every manufacturer who has an interest in civic affairs and who realizes the value of publicity.

If asked by an outsider what is made in Lowell, how many Lowellites could give a satisfactory or accurate answer? Most people would mention cotton and woolen fabrics, shoes, patent medicine and cartridges, but outside of that small list their knowledge would be hazy. As a matter of fact, Lowell has several hundreds of manufacturing plants large and small, and every article from a to z is represented in the list. It is up to the heads of all our manufacturing plants to get in touch with the board of trade in order to be in on the exposition which shall reveal to Lowell the extent and the variety of our industries.

Here is a rare opportunity to develop a real spirit of civic pride and enthusiasm. Without our industries there would be no work for our hundreds of thousands and consequently there would be no city. It may be that comparatively few local industries depend on local patronage, but it is desirable that we be mindful of the needs of all and support them loyally. We have the chance to make the Casino a scene of beauty and activity from November 15 to November 20, and all our citizens, young and old, will have a chance to see in a concrete form just what kind of a city Lowell is and what it is doing. All together for success!

THE NEW JERSEY DECISION

Owing to the entirely different complexion of New Jersey the defeat of woman suffrage there by a large majority cannot be taken as indicative of the result in Massachusetts. New York or other states where the issue will come up in November; still, the contest had been described as close, and the result must be discouraging to the workers for equal suffrage everywhere. It will tend to make them renew their fight with greater zeal, though it will give the anti-suffrage argument that they will make the most of. One surprising feature of the New Jersey vote was that the towns sided with the cities in defeating the amendment, and the reputation of suffrage in the president's own precinct, after his announcement in favor, has also been widely commented on. So far as practical tests go, woman suffrage cannot be viewed as a party matter, and there is no disposition among the voters to look upon it as a pressing issue. In spite of persistent campaigns, conducted most commendably, there is a spirit of general indifference in Massachusetts—and it is not confined to men by any means. It is the vote of those who are not strongly pro-suffrage or professedly against equal suffrage that will count eventually.

LODGING HOUSE GAS

A surprisingly large number of persons are found dead annually in cheaper lodging houses of this section, owing to the escape of illuminating gas while they slept. In many instances the report of the medical examiner states that death was accidental, due to ignorance on the part of the roomer or to carelessness induced by drunkenness or other cause. There was a peculiar case in Lawrence a few days ago. A man was found dead in a room in a cheap lodging house in which the gas outlets had been stopped by soap. It was supposed that he had vainly striven to light the gas and falling had left the stop open. During the night the gas filled the room and the man died as he slept. Such instances show that there should be some periodical inspection of lodging houses, especially those that cater to transient trade in order that the law may safeguard human life as far as possible. It might also be possible to so safeguard the light that there would be less menace for those not familiar with its uses or unable to distinguish danger.

BABIES AND FLATS

In some of the larger cities—and in some sections of our own city—it is a pretty discouraging proposition for parents who have young children to hunt for a tenement or flat. Flats are not regarded favorably by some landlords, and the mention of children is enough to end many a promising lease transaction. There was an interesting case in this connection in New York a day or so ago when a landlord sought to dispossess a family which the clerk had just visited.

They brought the matter to the courts and the lease was made the subject of legal contention. It plainly stated that nothing objectionable must be brought to the flat, and the landlord designated a crying baby as objectionable. Judge David decided for the family, declaring that all babies cry more or less and that they were entitled to the protection of a roof, even when crying. He will be commended by many parents who have experienced the difficulties of home hunting with a baby.

The farmer (accustomed to 25-cent shows) picked up the three dollars and walked off without his ticket, whereupon the box-office man shouted, "See here, sir! You've forgotten your ticket." Quantum Signs

Germany probably holds the record for out of the way signs and fantastic inn names. Writes M. L. H. in the Boston Transcript. The most absurd and recalls are usually obtained by the name of some animal with a more or less unsuitable object. The Comfortable Chicken and the Cold Frog, both of them in Berlin, are certainly left in the shade by the Angry Ant (Ant, in Westphalia) and the Stiff Dog (Berlin). The Lane House is an inn in a suburb of Berlin, and not far from it is the Thaly House. The Dirty Parlor, the Bloody Room, the Musical Gate, the Fourhundredweight Man, and the Boxes Den are all in Berlin or the neighborhood, and the Old Straw Bag in Leipzig. The Open Bungalow is in Staden, in the Palatinate, and the Shoulder Blade in Jericho. The Last Year is a landlord's notion for the name of his inn, situated near a graveyard, visited by returning mourners. It is of frequent occurrence throughout the fatherland.

When My Ship Comes In
Somewhere, out on the blue sea sailing,
Where the winds dance and spin;
Beyond the reach of my eager hailing,
Over the breakers' din,
Out where the dark storm clouds are lifting,
Out where the blinding fog is drifting,
Out where the treacherous sands are shifting,
My ship comes in.

O I have watched till my eyes were aching,
Day after weary day;
O I have hoped till my heart was breaking,
While the long nights ebb'd away;
Could I but know where the waves had tossed her,
Could I but know what storms had crossed her,
Could I but know where the winds had lost her,
Out in the twilight gray!

But though the storms her course have altered,
Surely the port she'll win,
Never my faith in my ship has faltered,
I know she is coming in,
For through the restless ways of her roaming,
Through the mad rush of the wild waves foaming,
Through the white crest of the billows coming,
My ship is coming in.

Breasting the tides where the gulls are flying,
Swiftly she's coming in;
Shallows and deeps and rocks defying,
Bravely she's coming in;
Precious the love she will bring to bless me,
Sweaty the arms she will bring to caress me,
In the proud purple of kisses she will dress me,
My ship that is coming in.

White in the sunshine her sails will be gleaming,
See where my ship comes in;
At masthead and peak her colors are streaming,
Proudly she's sailing in;
Love, hope and joy on her decks are gleaming,
Music will welcome her glad appearing,
And my heart will sing at her stately nearing,
When my ship comes in.

VOTES FOR "LOST CAUSE"

PHIL. WILSON AND SEC. TUMULTY "GOOD LOSERS" ON NEW JERSEY VOTE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—There was not the slightest sign of gloom in or about the White House yesterday when it was realized that the suffrage amendment had been "knocked under" in New Jersey at yesterday's election, and that President Wilson and Secretary Tumulty had cast their votes for a "lost cause."

Over in the war department, Secretary Garrison, also a New Jerseyite, who came out in favor of the amendment, was smiling, apparently happy.

Everywhere were evidences that the high administration officials who had endorsed woman suffrage as a state proposition were "good losers."

Neither was there any sulking over the fact that President Wilson's home precinct in Princeton went against the amendment. Had Mr. Wilson not voted the majority against it would have been 11.

The general disposition was to accept the result philosophically and to wish the women of New Jersey better luck when next they make a fight for the franchise.

It was recalled that at the time he made public announcement of his intention to vote for the amendment, President Wilson distinctly stated that he spoke as an individual citizen of the state of New Jersey and not as the head of the democratic party in the nation. He specifically declared that he did not make the statement for the purpose of influencing the votes of other men.

In view of this fact, no attention is being paid to statements by politicians opposed to the amendment who make for the record that the president took his state was not a partisan matter. His friends declare that the result of the election is utterly without significance so far as the president is politically concerned.

If the prognosticators who deemed the New Jersey amendment to defeat are still to be relied on, similarly the women will follow in New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

GEN. JOFFRE'S ORDER

GENERAL ORDER ISSUED BEFORE PROUD OFFENSIVE—COMMANDER

PROUD OF TROOPS

PARIS, Oct. 21, 3 a. m.—An order of the day, issued by Gen. Joffre, commander-in-chief of the French army, before the beginning of the recent offensive movement of the entente troops in Champagne, is published here, as follows:

"General Headquarters, Sept. 23.
"General Order, No. 43.
"Soldiers of the Republic: After months of waiting which has enabled us to increase our forces and resources while our adversary has used up his, the hour has come to attack, to win, and to add fresh pages of glory to those of the Marne, the Aisne, the Vesle and Arras. Behind the whirlwind of iron and steel—thanks to the toil of the factories of France, where your brothers have worked for us night and day—you will go to the assault all together along the whole front, in close union with the armies of our Allies.

"Your plan will be irresistible. It will carry you with the first effort to the enemy's batteries beyond the fortified lines he opposes to you. You will give him neither peace nor rest until victory has been gained. On forward with stout hearts for the deliverance of your native soil, for triumph, justice and liberty.

(Signed) "J. Joffre."

How well this appeal was answered is shown by another order issued Oct. 3, which follows:

"The commander-in-chief expresses to the troops under his orders deep satisfaction at the results obtained up to the present by their attacks.

Twenty-five thousand prisoners, 350 officers, 150 cannon and material which has not yet been enumerated are the fruits of their valor.

It is understood that further orders are pending with the Russian government for additional cloth and it is probable that the American woollen order business will cross the $25,000,000 mark in the near future. THREE MEN ORDERED TO PAY $25 EACH IN ASSAULT CASE—OTHER POLICE NEWS

The trial of the cases of Joseph, Ali and Amir Mohamed, accused of assault and battery on Hassan Shore, and Hassan Shore, accused of assault and battery on Joseph Mohamed, which were opened yesterday after several continuances were concluded today. Judge Knight found the three Mohameds guilty and ordered each to pay a fine of $25. They appealed. Shore was discharged.

The trouble grew out of a court case that was tried several weeks ago. Hassan Shore was acquitted by the grand jury of a larceny charge and since that time, it is alleged, considerable ill feeling has existed between him and his neighbors. On Oct. 4, while he was going home to dinner, it was shown, the three Mohameds attacked him, some using stones and other weapons. He made a complaint against the trio and two days later Shore and Joseph Mohamed met and exchanged blows in front of the Hamilton mill, which resulted in Shore's arrest, but the testimony of the government in this case was wavering and a finding

BOSTON SUBWAY REPORT

ELEVATED ACCEPTS ALL OF EXPERTS' SUGGESTIONS EXCEPT TWO

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—After the recent New York subway disaster, the public service commission instructed Prof. William L. Puffer, electrical engineer, to investigate conditions in the Boston subway and tunnels and recommend improvements as regards safety. The commission then referred the report to the Elevated company and Pres. William A. Flather accepted yesterday that the elevated agrees to all the suggestions except two, namely, covering the third rail in the tunnels and, and replacing the wooden floors in cars now used in the Washington street tunnel with entirely fireproof floors.

We are unable to find or design a type of construction for carrying third rail conductor attached to the truck or journal boxes which will permit carrying a cover over the third rail where the third rail is less than 25 inches from the running rail," his letter says.

In connection with the matter of wooden floors, Prof. Puffer writes: "Inasmuch as the floors are now protected where fire is likely to occur, and taking into consideration the fact that during the 14 years in which these cars have been in operation there has never been a case where such additional fireproofing would have been of value, the expense of further protecting the car floors is not, in our opinion, justified."

Following are the suggestions of Prof. Puffer in which the Elevated road acquiesces:

Adoption of blue light markers for emergency exits and telephone stations.

Supplying and maintaining fire extinguishers at the blue light stations in the Tremont street subway and East Boston Tunnel.

Distant control of all ventilating fans from the stations on either side of the fan and the supply of power from an independent source other than the third rail.

Reconstruction of Boylston street lighting room so as to make it as nearly fireproof as possible.

Better protection of cables in subways and tunnels.

All new cars bought in future for use in subways or tunnels will be wholly fireproof.

An entirely new signal system for the East Boston tunnel.

According to Pres. Bancroft's letter, the Elevated complies in addition to Prof. Puffer's suggestions, substituting for the wooden platform at Jolly square station a concrete platform and removing all rubbish from subways and tunnels three times a week.

FREDERICK A. FLATHER
Speaker at Banquet

Banquet and Speeches at the Association Hall Last Evening

Mayor Murphy and Other Speakers Predict Complete Success

Out of Town Speakers Praise the Equipment of Lowell Building

SAMUEL H. THOMPSON
Chairman Executive Committee

The opening gun in the Y.M.C.A. campaign to secure 1000 new members in six days was fired last evening when the division heads, captains, team-workers and others interested in the movement assembled in the gymnasium of the association and gave the signal for the automobiles to start. Success was the keynote of the gathering, the speakers and workers expressing the utmost confidence that the goal will be reached.

At 7:30 o'clock, Cushman's orchestra struck up a lively march and nearly every team captain and member participating in the campaign marched into the gymnasium and partook of an excellent banquet served by the Ladies' auxiliary. It was a repeat feast to those which gave the auxiliary such a reputation during the campaign of 1913.

Each division was marked off and the names of the teams under which the members are working were very prominent so that there was no difficulty in assembling the teamworkers in their proper places. At the head table were the Y.M.C.A. workers who were presented to the captains of the winning team while on one side of the hall in a very conspicuous place stood the big board on which each day's results will be tabulated.

Mayor Murphy
Samuel H. Thompson acted as chairman of the festivities and after speaking in a hopeful manner on the prospects of the campaign he introduced Mayor Murphy as the first speaker. The mayor told of his enthusiasm in the work of the Y.M.C.A. and his belief in the success of the campaign. He said, "It is for the object of the best interests of the community. Not limited to race, nationality or creed, its work should be encouraged by every member of the community." He complimented the local association on its beautiful building with the splendid equipment and said that the task of doubling the present membership should not be a difficult one.

Prof. Olney
Prof. L. A. Olney, chairman of the membership committee and vice president of the association, could see no reason why the membership should not be doubled during the campaign "with the experience of seasoned workers, who have been through two previous campaigns, the enthusiasm of younger members out to accomplish positive results and Campaign Manager McArt at the head, success is assured," he said.

F. A. Flather
The next speaker was Frederick A. Flather, under whose direction the last campaign was conducted. He said that in his travels from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to Mexico he had never seen a Y.M.C.A. building with such equipment as we have in Lowell. Mr. Flather also spoke confidently, stating that the work would be much easier than supposed at this time.

G. D. Gold
G. D. Gold, industrial secretary of the Brockton Y.M.C.A., was next introduced. Mr. Gold proved a convincing speaker and spoke in his best English in Y.M.C.A. work. Secretary Gold said:

"This matter of securing members for the Y.M.C.A. is a community enterprise. It is not an enterprise of the Young Men's Christian association but rather one of the city of Lowell. Stagnation for which the Y.M.C.A. stood, he stated, were: 'Young Man Catch Another,' 'Young Man Come Around' and 'Young Men's Character Asset.' The association gave old men a place in which to place their youth, and young men a place in which to let off steam. As for the boy, the association was the boy's salvation. This meant the salvation of the city, the country and the world. I greet you, as a Pennsylvania Dutchman. I bring to you, also greetings from Brockton and the Y.M.C.A. of that city, and I will return to that city taking with me the enthusiasm you have shown here. Next Monday, the associations of Brockton, Lynn and Fall River enter a membership race for which silver cups will be awarded. I shall be interested in watching the progress of the Lowell campaign and observing the start you will have made the next three days."

Manager McArt

protection and how the food supply could best be guarded.
Company drill, is a small part of the real problem of any army. The inability to move troops seriously inconvenienced the commanders in the Civil war, he said.
Colleges, President Lowell stated, might teach the history of military art and surveying as a part of military training. He declared that there was a conflict between colleges and the militia in connection with the encampment at Plattsburg. He stated that militia men could not secure leaves of absence from their commanders to attend this camp. The colleges do not want a conflict of that kind, he said, if they are to take part in the plans for military preparedness.
President Lowell made a suggestion that the navy department avail itself of the services of young men who are attending technical schools, every one of whom, he said, is fitted to give at least six weeks of his time each year to service on shipboard.

OPPOSE SCHOOL DRILLS

LOWELL AND ELIOT, OF HARVARD, AT DEFENSE HEARING IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Emphatic opposition to making the public schools adjuncts to the militia was voiced by President Lowell of Harvard and Dr. Charles W. Eliot at the public hearing held at the state house yesterday afternoon by the special commission on military preparedness.

President Lowell asserted that the colleges would cooperate in giving military training if asked to and that Harvard would do her share.
Dr. Eliot declared the army spirit is not the American spirit because, he said, this means the subjection of the boy's will to that of another. The careers of many boys have been ruined, he asserted, because their wills were broken. A soldier's training means the breaking of a man's will, he asserted.
Speaking of the question of military training of boys, he said that Dr. Sargent, the Harvard physical expert, declares that he could recognize a Boston Latin school boy the moment he saw him stripped because of the improper development.

Prof. Lowell, who spoke first, said that the real problem before this country is the efficiency of the resisting force during the first six weeks of war. One of the weak points, he said, is that an invading army superior in numbers or better equipped could capture every arms factory in the United States within a very short time. Almost all of these factories are within 100 miles of the coast, and should be moved to the interior, he said.

The concern of the United States is not so much with the creation of a large military force as it is with the education of a large number of officers who could command troops intelligently, he asserted. The creation of an army of 1,000,000 would precipitate a demand for officers to command it intelligently, he said.

President Lowell maintained that there should be twice as many officers as the present requirement provides for per unit of the organization, and these officers in Massachusetts should be taught to know every mile of the sea coast; just where guns could be mounted to advantage, the points at which defenses could best be made, how troops could be moved to places that required

Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It
In the spring of 1913 I was attacked by Muscular and Induratory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.
I was every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may understand the price of it, one dollar, but understand I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today. Mark H. Jackson, No. 518 B, Gurney Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y. Mr. Jackson is responsible. NEW HAVEN DIRECTORS LOST POINT AT OUTSET

Motion Overruled by Judge Hunt — Former President Mellen Called to Stand

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Attorneys for the defense in the trial under the Sherman anti-trust law of the eleven New York, New Haven & Hartford directors, lost a point at the outset of the introduction of the government's first evidence in the case today. They set up the statute of limitations against the consideration of evidence having to do with acts committed prior to 1912, until acts committed within the subsequent three-year period first placed before the jury.

Judge Hunt held that the government was entitled to prove the prima facie evidence that a conspiracy existed from the beginning, and that if such was proved to the satisfaction of the jury, the jury should then judge the guilt of the defendants from the time they entered the conspiracy insofar as their acts led up to the three-year period.

Charles S. Mellen, former president of the New Haven, awaiting to be called as a witness for the government, was an interested listener. Mr. Mellen had a seat near several of the defendants against whom he is testifying and by whom he was greeted with every evidence of cordiality when he entered the court room.

Documentary evidence was being introduced when the morning session adjourned, but it was expected that Mr. Mellen would take the stand some time in the afternoon. The government had more than 2000 exhibits which it de-

CITY'S TENANTS AT SEA IN SEIZED PROPERTY

Kirk St. Occupants Pay Rent to City—Hospital Site to be Graded —Dummer St. Seizure Planned

Persons occupying the buildings that have been seized by the city in Kirk and Anna streets to make way for the new high school are now the tenants of the city. There seems to be some doubt in the minds of people living there as to the actual status of affairs, though all that has occurred to date has been duly published in the papers. The order of seizure was passed by the city council at a recent meeting and the land has been actually seized from the day of the passage of the order. The tenants there have until Jan. 1, 1916, to vacate. Asked today as to the collections or pay-

CALLS MELLER HOSTILE

Prosecutor Made Charge Against Witness at New Haven Trial— Judge Disagrees—To Call Taft

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Charles S. Mellen, a government witness in the trial of the New Haven directors was charged by Frank L. Swacker, federal prosecutor, with being "frankly hostile to the government's case" during the continuation of his testimony today. Mr. Swacker asked Judge Hunt, presiding at the trial, to instruct the jury to be more responsive in his answers but the court said that the did not see that the witness had given any evidence of a hostile attitude. Mr. Swacker was trying to gain from the witness information as to the source of complaints made by New England fruit shippers against the New York and New England railroad, one of the early competitors of the New Haven. Mr. Mellen, he thought, was disposed to evade making direct answers and to volunteer information not desired by the government. Prior to this Mr. Mellen had described for the attorney the way in which the New Haven had secured control of the Housatonic, the Connecticut river and Old Colony railroads, and told how he had been asked by

Good Milk Nowdays

Milk Inspector Master is authority for the statement that the milk is very good nowadays. He says that a big improvement has been shown within the last few weeks, and he thinks it is because the cattle are being better fed. The milk will be of high standard, he says, until about late in the spring and then it will begin to drop. Mr. Master has had over 20 milk cases in court since the first of September and three or four appealed cases are booked to come up in the superior court next week.

Granolithic Sidewalks

The work of putting in granolithic sidewalks in the down-town section of the city is pretty nearly finished and the installation of sidewalks of this kind has been begun at the Barrett property in upper Merrimack street and the Delisle property at the corner of Merrimack and Alken streets.

The Street Railway company will continue its rails from Merrimack to Moody street in Pawtucket street and when all of the rails have been laid the street department will complete the paving work in upper Merrimack street and that portion of Pawtucket

Bulls Shut Their Eyes When They Rush
Any way, Edmund Burke in a speech in the House of Commons is said to have used these words: "When difficult things have to be done it is a good rule that some people have to close their eyes to all but one thing most important and pressing until it is accomplished."
To make this store the very best is what we have in view. Like Edmund Burke we shut our eyes and foregather our strength in our shoulders to make the wheels go round rightily.
The store grows and grows as it goes on day by day, and it is very attractive just now.

MEXICANS FIRE ON U. S. TROOPS, KILLING THREE

Bandits Attacked U. S. Troops, 60 Miles North of Brownsville — Eight Killed and Eight Wounded in 40 Min- ute Battle Which Followed

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Oct. 21.—About 75 Mexicans at 2 o'clock this morning attacked 15 American soldiers at Ojo de Agua about 60 miles up the Rio Grande from here. Three soldiers were killed and eight wounded and at least five Mexicans killed in the 40 minute battle which followed. Some of the Mexicans fled across the Rio Grande into Mexican territory when American cavalry reinforcements came up.

Ojo de Agua is near the river. Dense brush afforded the Mexicans perfect cover as they scattered into small groups and made toward the Mexican boundary.

The bandits apparently failed in their purpose to take the American troops by surprise. A picket reported their presence in time to give the troops a chance to take positions for resistance.

Sergeant Shafer of Troop G, who commanded the detachment, was killed and with him Privates Joyce and McConnell of the signal corps. Four cavalrymen were wounded. Privates Bownor, Behr, Langlands and Kubie, and also two signal corps non-commissioned officers, Sergt. Smith and Corporal Canfield.

The American soldiers held their ground until relief came from Mission, seven miles away.

Other paying jobs that have not yet been tackled include the paving of Thorndike street from Middlesex street to the bridge connecting Thorndike and Fletcher street.

Dwelling and Store

Idella L. Norlon has been granted a permit at the office of Commissioner R. L. Bates of counsel for the government to demolish a building to comprise a dwelling and store on 132-136 Pond street. The building will be 30 by 40 feet, two stories, and the estimated cost is $2200.

THANK GOD FOR PEACE

Pres. Wilson Issues Proclamation Designating Nov. 25 as Thanks- giving Day

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—President Wilson today in a proclamation designating Thursday, Nov. 25, as Thanksgiving day, called attention to the fact that the United States has been at peace while most of Europe has been at war.

"We have been able to assert our rights and the rights of mankind without breach of friendship with the great nations with whom we have had to deal," said the president.

The text follows:

"It has long been the honored custom of our people to turn in the fruitful autumn of the year in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many blessings and mercies to us as a nation. The year that is now drawing to a close since we last observed our day of national thanksgiving has been, while a year of discipline because of the mighty forces of war and of changes which have disturbed the world, also a year of special blessing for us."

"Another year of peace has been vouchsafed us; another year in which not only to take thought of our duty to ourselves and to mankind but also to adjust ourselves to our many responsibilities thrust upon us by a war which has involved almost the whole of Europe. We have been able to assert our rights and the rights of mankind without breach of friendship with the great nations with whom we have been able also to perform duties and exercise privileges of succor and helpfulness which should serve to demonstrate our desire to make the office of friendship the means of truly interesting and unselfish service."

"Our ability to serve all who could avail themselves of our services in the midst of crises has been increased, by a gracious Providence, by more and more abundant crops; our ample financial resources have enabled us to steadily advance the means of truly interested and unselfish service."

SUIT AGAINST FOSS

TRIAL OF CRIMINAL LIBEL CHARGE OPENED AT BOSTON TO- DAY

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—The trial of a criminal libel suit brought against former Gov. Eugene N. Foss, by Dennis D. Driscoll, secretary of the Trades Union Liberty League, began today in municipal court. In his complaint Driscoll alleged that Foss had charged while on the stump seeking the republican gubernatorial nomination that he, Driscoll, had threatened to bring about strikes at the Foss factories unless he was appointed prison commissioner.

Driscoll, the first witness denied that he had ever been involved in a labor conspiracy to injure Foss or that he had ever been a candidate for the appointment to the prison commission while Foss held office. He was not connected in any way with the labor troubles in the factories in which Foss was interested.

BERLIN CLAIMS SUCCESS

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—The German advance on the Russian Baltic port of Riga, for possession of which a great battle has been under way for several weeks, has been carried forward further. The war office reported today that Field Marshal von Hindenburg's army had occupied the bank of the Dvina river northeast of Mitau, from Borkowitz to Bersemuene. Russian reports of successes on the central and southern end of the line received partial confirmation in today's German statement. German forces on the Styr were compelled to retreat, losing a few cannon.

IMPORTANT VICTORY FOR RUSSIAN FORCES

Capture Several German Posi- tions and 3500 Men—Serbians Hard Pressed

Russia's armies which recently have been prosecuting a vigorous offensive movement with some success, on the southern end of their front, are now reported to have won an important victory farther north, in the central district of the long front. An official communication from Petrograd announces the capture of several German positions in the neighborhood of Baranovich, north of the Pripiet river. The Russian staff states that more than 3500 men, together with machine guns and one field piece, were captured.

Serbian Hard Pressed

The plight of Serbia's hard pressed forces, assailed on the north and east by the numerically superior armies of Germany, Austria and Bulgaria, is becoming desperate. As much is admitted in an official statement from Nish. This announcement confirms previous reports that the Bulgarians have captured Vranja, on the Nish-Salonika railroad. Communication on this line is interrupted in two places. Impeding the advance of French and British troops, whose arrival is being awaited with anxiety by the Serbians.

French Repel Germans

There are no signs of resumption of the offensive movement on the western front which has been expected in England and France. The only fresh

NASHUA MURDER CASE

Four Men Arraigned Today — Conference Held on Strike—I. W.W. Leaders Arrive

NASHUA, N. H., Oct. 21.—Although a number of strikers and their friends gathered today for the expected preliminary hearing of three men arrested last night on charges of murder in connection with the death of James Stivie, victim of a strike riot Tuesday, the court room was in disorder around the court room. None of the cases was heard, however.

City Marshal Healey announced to the court that Alexander Berishavitch and Peter Harlow were to be arraigned later at the convenience of their counsel, who were engaged in a conference at which they were expected to be made to adjust labor differences which led to a strike of more than 4000 employees at the plant of the Nashua Manufacturing Co. and the Jackson Manufacturing Co.

Costas Barasick, the third man detained by the police, still has not been arraigned on a murder charge, the police having stated that there was no evidence to connect him with the death of Stivie.

Adam Sharple was still held today without bail, following his arraignment yesterday on the charge of the murder of Stivie. Sharple entered a plea of not guilty.

The police and the militia were on duty near the mills, but no disturbance had been reported early today. Interest centered in the outcome of the conference although there was no public indication as to whether the employers and the strikers would be able to reach an agreement.

No Patrol

Up until the time of the strike, the city of Nashua, which boasts of an elegantly equipped auto ambulance, was without a police patrol, and if an arrest was made previous to the first outbreak by the strikers, the offender was marched to the station house. Since the trouble on Monday an auto patrol has been hired, and wooden benches called to either side. On Tuesday night the truck was driven about various parts of the city looking for possible outbreaks, but there was none.

I.W.W. Leaders Arrive

Joseph Eitor and "Wild Bill" Hayward, leaders of the I.W.W., are expected to be present at a meeting of strikers to be held tonight in Hamlin hall, Nashua.

This morning a man giving his name as Caruso, and representing himself to be an I.W.W. leader, addressed the strikers at their regular morning meeting. Following the meeting it is said the majority of the strikers expressed themselves as being against the I.W.W. organization, while others seemed to favor it. Ex-Mayor William H. Barry, who has acted as counsel for

VICTORY FOR RUSSIANS

CAPTURE SEVERAL GERMAN PO- SITIONS, 352 MEN, 10 MACHIN- GUNS AND ARTILLERY

PETROGRAD, Oct. 21, via London, 2:33 p. m.—An important Russian success in the region of Baranovich resulting in the capture of several German positions, 352 men, 10 machine guns and one piece of artillery, was announced today by the war office.

Baranovich is in the central portion of the Russian line to the north of the Pripiet river. The war office announcement follows:

In the districts southeast of Baranovich our troops, after a dashy surprise attack yesterday captured German positions near the villages of Ekimovich, Odokhorskina, Novik and Naponia.

In the course of the day we took 85 German and Austrian officers and 352 men prisoners, in addition to capturing ten quick dress and one gun."

FREIGHT HANDLERS' STRIKE

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—While a new wage scale was being discussed by representatives of both sides 1500 freight handlers in the Boston & Maine railroad terminals in Charlestown and Somerville quit work today. President M. H. White and Secretary Alexander Ryan of the union who were in conference with the railroad officials seemed much surprised when informed that the men had walked out.

WALSH IN BERKSHIRES

Large Crowds Greet Governor Despite Rain — McCall First Named Crane, Says Governor

PITTSFIELD, Oct. 21.—Gov. Walsh ended his day and evening tour of western Massachusetts here late last evening, highly elated with the reception accorded him in the Berkshire Hills.

Daniel P. Doherty of Westfield said that in all his experience he had never seen such numbers at political rallies. He meant by that that the smaller places where usually a baker's dozen and sometimes less is only to be found there were scores yesterday.

The most enthusiastic democrat admitted that the office of governor is or itself a magnet for the people, but with that fact considered the governor and his party were greatly pleased at yesterday's experience.

The governor spoke outdoors in most places. The showers seemed to hold up for him. And it so happened that the rain turned out to be a blessing. Men who would have been engaged in farm work for this is a good fall for farming—just stayed in the village and in consequence they were all prepared to hear the democratic candidate for re-election.

"Are you with me in this fight?" asked the governor, with all the earnestness and power of his voice. "Then jump into the trenches."

Challenge to McCall
Continuing his personal appeal, the governor showed that his own record is that upon which he expects to win or lose. He tried also yesterday to arouse his republican opponent to discussion of state issues.

"I now ask Mr. McCall to begin to talk to the voters of Massachusetts on Massachusetts questions," said the governor. "Where does he stand on the taxation question? What does he say about questions that concern the welfare of the people? What does he say about those bills that were rejected by the legislature? Was I right or was the legislature right?"

"If I was wrong he should say so. If I was right he should say so. If the legislature was wrong he ought to join with me in condemning the invisible government."

Gov. Walsh spoke yesterday at West Springfield, Westfield, Russell, Huntington, Chester, Stockbridge, Great Barrington, Lee and Lenox, and last night in this city, North Adams, and Adams. The rain interfered to some extent with his schedule, and because of road conditions some of the longer distances were reduced, and certain places necessary.

Record on Milk Question

"In my inaugural message of 1914, when first elected governor of Massachusetts, I called attention to the steady decline of milk production in our state and of the importance of this food to the infants and invalids of the commonwealth and to all our citizens, and I urged them that a public inquiry be made into the causes of the decline.

"Again, during the recent session of the legislature of 1915, on two separate occasions by special messages, I urged the legislature to take some action on this matter. I did more than that; I prepared and submitted to the legislature an order and asked for its immediate adoption.

"In the face of the facts which I laid before the legislature all action was refused; and I recall to my republican opponent that this legislature was controlled in both branches by the members of his party.

Gov. Walsh told his Pittsfield audience that when he previously discussed invisible government in this city, his opponent declared he referred to Senator Crane.

"I had not thought of Mr. McCall mentioning Senator Crane's name in this connection so that if Senator Crane finds himself called the invisible government he can thank Mr. McCall and not Gov. Walsh the governor.

The governor was followed by Jacob C. Morse, candidate for auditor, who came up from Boston especially for this rally.

McCALL BEGINS RALLIES

SPOKE IN SEVEN BOSTON WARDS

LAST NIGHT—CARDS ISSUED URGING RECALL OF MAYOR CURLEY

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Pursued by 15 automobiles, leaving the Young Men's Republican College club with red fire torches, ex-Congressman McCall opened his Boston rallies with a tour of seven wards last night. Owing to a delay in reaching Boston from Worcester, he was unable to speak in Allston, ward 12 and ward 17, as scheduled.

Good-sized audiences greeted him and all the speakers expressed pleasure at the size of the gatherings, in such inclement weather. The tour was held unusually early in the campaign and large republican attendances were not expected, according to managers of the tour.

Gov. Walsh said in part: "My republican opponent who has been within a few days in this section devoted a great deal of his time to a discussion of the milk question.

"His talk about arranging 'conferences' to deal with the problem reminds me of the old saying that talk is cheap because the republican candidate under cover of it is vague promise of further talk has failed to offer or avoided offering a single definite suggestion to deal with the great question.

"He referred to my veto of the milk bill, so-called, but he carefully avoided stating whether he elected, would veto this bill which threatens destruction to the milk industry of the state.

"He cannot stand with the farmers and against them in this campaign. The men and women who are struggling for a livelihood on Massachusetts farms have the right to know whether the republican candidate will, if elected, sign or veto this bill.

"Although I have been the recognized leader of the republican party for the past year and a republican legislature was sitting in the state house, he neither raised his voice nor showed the slightest interest in any legislation affecting the farming interests of the state.

He failed to act when opportunity was given him; as a candidate now he fails to declare himself definitely upon this great problem.

TAX ON MARRIED MEN

SHOULD BE HIGHER, NEW YORK

PROFESSOR SAYS—WAR RESULT OF OVER-POPULATION

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Married men should be discouraged by compelling them to pay a heavier tax than bachelors, Prof. Joseph French Johnson of New York university declared before a state legislative tax investigation committee yesterday.

Prof. Johnson was called with other citizens by the committee chairman, State Senator Ozden L. Mills, to obtain his views on revising the general tax system of the state.

Discussion of a proposed income tax caused Prof. Johnson to assert his disapproval of showing favoritism to married men.

"I would not exempt married men," he said. "I would not give any preference to a man who is married over a bachelor because I do not believe it is a good thing to encourage matrimony by lowering taxation.

"I would discourage matrimony by making the married man pay a heavier tax. I think we should not do anything to encourage matrimony and child bearing."

Prof. Johnson then explained that he agreed with the theory of Thomas Malthus that population has a tendency to increase faster than the means to support it.

"I believe that this world war over in Europe is being fought because the human race has refused to see the lessons of this doctrine, which were taught 160 years ago," said the professor.

LOWELL BOY IN CASE PRAISED BY GOV. WALSH

WAS SHOT AFTER 4TH OF JULY ESCAPEE BY MAN WHOSE GATE WAS REMOVED

The trial of Franklin Brown, indicted for aggravated assault on several persons during celebration on the night of the last Fourth in Chichester, took place yesterday afternoon in the courtroom of the county superior court, before Judge Oliver W. Branch and a jury.

The young man named in the indictment as being hit by shot from a gun fired by Mr. Brown, after they had torn a gate from his fence, and dragged it along the street, was Fred Russell of Lowell, Mass., Noah Edmunds, Doran Senhorn, Edmund Hagis and Nathaniel Edmunds.

None of the young men was seriously injured. Mr. Brown, who is 63 years of age and has been a life-long resident of Chichester, did not deny firing the gun, but asserted with positiveness that he had no intention of hitting the young men. He says he fired at the ground, desiring only to frighten them. The evidence showed that he fired in considerable anger, declaring that as they tore along the gate. Also that they did not do any more celebrating that night.

Youths Attended Church
It appeared from the testimony that the young men implicated in the early part of the evening attending church "I hear the gospel preached," Duran Senhorn explained to Senator Nathaniel E. Martin, who conducted the case for the defense. After the church service it appeared that they either went home to get a few hours sleep before midnight or just visited around quietly. Russell testified that, in reality, he was an innocent bystander, as he was coming from a visit a quarter of a mile beyond Brown's house and happened along just as the roysterers were pulling the gate from the fence and Russell got shot in the calf of the leg, the scars of which were shown to the jury.

The defense finished yesterday afternoon and Senator Martin had on three witnesses before adjournment. Counting the jury, Murchie appeared to be trying to show that Brown fired on the young men without warning. Senator Martin's aim, apparently, was to show that Brown had been annoyed by Fourth of July celebrators many times in the past. Mr. Brown said they had been pestering him for 25 years.

The new fall styles in shoes have been received at the local store of the Newark Shoe Stores Co., and are now on display in the window.

Truly it is an impressive sight to see so many styles of shoes, every style shown at the one price, $3.50.

There is a style, it seems, for every occasion, and a shoe for every purpose. There are shoes for dress, work, and sports of all styles, from $2.50. Then, too, there are plenty of models for the young "hopeful" which sell at $1.50, $2, $2.50—according to style.

One of the greatest features of the Newark shoe is that it is made by the Goodyear welt method, same as $5, $6, and $7 shoes which the Newark people claim, and which the state is evidenced by a careful comparison with higher priced shoes.

The range of styles consist of the more sombre shades predominating this season.

As styles are shown in a variety of custom too, with the prevailing short vamp effects.

Moreover, Goodyear "wingfoot" heel and Goodyear fur rubber soles are shown in all the latest effects.

The new nut brown color in tan calf high boots is quite the thing this season and may be seen in splendid variety at the Newark Shoe Stores, 5 Central street.

Even the posts of house physician and house surgeon in the English hospitals, heretofore always held by men, are now offered to women.

STATE CHARITIES SESSION OPENS IN PITTSFIELD—LARGE SOCIAL WELFARE EXHIBIT

PITTSFIELD, Oct. 21.—The Massachusetts state conference of charities began its 12th session here last night with about 100 delegates present.

The delegates began to gather at the Maplewood hotel early yesterday afternoon, and 70 were taken in automobiles to the Burnham industrial farm at Quinebaug, N. Y., just across the state line where a model corrective school for boys is maintained very largely by the contributions of the summer residents of Berkshire county. Returning, the delegates passed through the resort towns of Stockbridge and Lenox.

Rev. Michael J. Scanlon, president of the conference, gave an informal dinner at the conference, having Mayor George W. Faulkner of Pittsfield and several of the speakers of the conference as his guests.

Conference Opens
The conference opened at 7.45 o'clock. The stage was decorated with national and state flags.

Gov. Walsh, who had been making a speaking trip in the state, arrived early and was warmly received. He said in part: "The people of our state appreciate your interest in these great charitable problems which relate so intimately to the happiness and prosperity of our people."

"That there are so many self-sacrificing men and women in public spirited organizations interested in the promotion of charity is indicative of the healthy public spirit that has made Massachusetts a recognized leader in the care of its unfortunate."

"You are engaged in promoting one of the most enlightened and humanitarian functions of the government, for, after all is said and done, the noblest and most satisfying service of the government, like that of the individual, is the service done for the weak and the helpless."

"Without your assistance the burden resting upon the government in maintaining hospitals for the care of the invalid and the mentally weak, homes for the support of the aged and poor, schools for the blind and the deaf and correctional institutions for the wayward would be enormous."

"You and your societies have contributed to the commonwealth cannot be estimated in dollars and cents. Instead of expending more than $5,000,000, as now required for what may be termed 'charitable purposes,' the state has been able to save $1,000,000, and the large number of private hospitals and sanatoriums for the aged and the poor, and for the care of the mentally weak, and for the care of the physically weak, would be obliged to demand from our citizens easily double their present contribution from our taxes."

Gov. Walsh Thanks Workers
"The people of this state are vitally interested in your organization and in its deliberations. They will watch with keen interest the discussion of the problems which you are seeking here to solve in the interest of humanity. In their name, I thank you one and all for what you have done for Massachusetts and her people."

The delegates were welcomed to Pittsfield by Judge Charles L. Hibbard, Mayor George W. Faulkner, and the city of Pittsfield, expressed the pleasure Pittsfield has in entertaining the conference.

The annual address by Pres. Scanlon was then given. He was followed by the speaker of the evening, Alfred W. Donovan, chairman of the Massachusetts state board of labor and industries, whose topic was "Massachusetts Contribution to Industrial Health and Happiness."

A remarkable social welfare exhibit, showing the work of inmates of various institutions, is being made at 229 North street.

Many Pittsfield homes were opened for the entertainment of the delegates and a special committee met the delegates at the station with their automobiles.

Everything points to one of the most important conferences of its kind ever held in the state.

OLDEST VOTER AN ANTI

Gilbert West, Aged 92, of Pittsfield, Pleased at Defeat of Suffrage in New Jersey

PITTSFIELD, Oct. 21.—Gilbert West, aged 92, the oldest voter in Pittsfield, was tickled yesterday morning when he read of the defeat of suffrage in New Jersey.

"I am opposed to woman suffrage," said he. "The town meeting never was any place for women. The city election polling places are no better. The place for a woman is in her home and not out electioneering or dabbling in politics."

Mr. West first voted for Martin Van Buren for president in 1850 and has voted at every national or state election since.

Several hundred brook trout were distributed yesterday by the re-stocking committee of the Lowell Fish and Game association. The brooks receiving the fish included Black brook, in Chichester and Lowell; Trull brook, in Tewksbury; Page brook in Billerica and Blood brook in East Chelmsford.

Yesterday afternoon another consignment of perch was received by the Lowell Fish and Game association. The shipment comprised 12 cars of adult white perch, 1650 in all. The fish were received at Graniteville station for planting in Keyes' pond.

Brookton Boy Shows Chief Daley How It Was Done—Mother to Keep Him Tied in Yard

BROOKTON, Oct. 21.—There are some days for little Elmore Blair, aged 4, of Oak street, as his older brother is in school and there are no playmates living near. Elmore enjoyed the long hours last Saturday by wringing in the alarm from box 253, and there was plenty of excitement in the neighborhood for a time.

Little Elmore couldn't stand it any longer, so pulled in another false alarm yesterday, summoning apparatus from three stations at a cost of $50 to the city. The little fellow again denied that he was responsible, but his brother was responsible, his transgression the brother was in school.

Assistant Chief William F. Daley asked Elmore just how his brother did it. The lad climbed a pole, reached out, stood on a stone wall and leaned over to the box and was about to ring it again when Chief Daley intervened, satisfied, however, that Elmore was responsible. The boy's mother has promised to keep him tied in the yard.

PAWTUCKET, Oct. 21.—Thomas Meagher, about 18 years old, was run down last evening by a freight train near Woodlawn. Mason company and was on his way home, walking along the track with two companions.

Enough Coke to Run a Whole Fleet

On the basis of last year's figures we estimate that 50,000 tons of Lowell Coke will be used this coming winter.

Do you think for a moment that any such vast amount would be bought unless actual experience had proved that Lowell Coke gives absolute satisfaction and saves money?

Perhaps the reason you still stick to coal, put up with the dirt, dust, gas, clinkers, ashes, heavy lifting—and pay the extra $2.50 a ton,—is because you don't realize that Coke has become the modern fuel. Lowell Coke is better than the best coal. 90 per cent. pure carbon.

OFFERS CYPRUS TO GREECE

Great Island Promised by England as Reward if Greeks Join Allies in the War

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Great Britain has made a formal offer of the island of Cyprus to Greece as soon as Greece undertakes to intervene in the war on the side of the allies. The Daily Telegraph made this announcement yesterday.

Greece Has Not Replied

"Thus far," says the Daily Telegraph, "Greece has not replied to the offer of Cyprus. Our Athens correspondent informs us that it is believed the offer will create an excellent impression in Greece, since it is an actual present concession and not a mere promise which Germany might suggest and would never be carried out."

Would Give Possession Soon

The Daily Telegraph, in an editorial, claims that the report is based on good authority. The newspaper points out that the offer differs from the German offer to Greece, inasmuch as it is not contingent upon the final triumph of the triple entente, but would take effect as soon as Greece performed her part in the suggested agreement.

The sooner we all recognize that purely chivalrous motives are not prominent in the Balkan politics of today, the better," the Daily Telegraph adds. "The cession of Cyprus to the state to which most of its inhabitants are related by race and history clearly involves no departure from the principle upon which we have taken our stand from the beginning, and it comes with especially happy effect from the power to which Greece owes her possession of the Ionian Islands."

Possession of the large island of Cyprus, with nearly 300,000 population, lying some 500 miles east of Greece, would vastly increase the prospects of Athens' new national policy of Pan-Hellenism.

Report of Ultimatum

A Rome dispatch to the Daily Mail gives the report that the entente allies will send an ultimatum to Greece insisting that she define her position. Yesterday it was reported that the ministers of France and England at Athens assured the Greek government that a great allied army would be landed at Saloniki. At the same time they notified Greece that the allies did not agree with the interpretation of the Serbo-Grecian treaty of alliance which King Constantine's cabinet put forth, as not binding on Greece in the present war.

GREECE CONSIDERING OFFER

LONDON, Oct. 21, 3:45 a. m.—The Daily Chronicle says it understands that Great Britain has communicated to her allies her offer of the island of Cyprus to Greece, and that the offer is now under consideration by the Greek government. The paper in an editorial says: "The mass of the Greek nation is not behind M. Zaimis (the Greek premier), but behind M. Venizelos (the former premier), and in order that its will may prevail over German influence in high places at Athens the allies must give tangible evidence of two things—their good will toward Hellenism and their determination to support it. As proof of good will they have offered Cyprus. "The offer is a notable one, not only because of its magnitude but because we are offering something already in our hands to give and if the Greek nation allows the Zaimis government to reject it the world will have to revise its views of the seriousness of Hellenic aspirations."

AMBIGUOUS POSITION OF GREECE

LONDON, Oct. 21, 3:25 a. m.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Times quotes Sergius Sazonov, Russian minister of foreign affairs, as saying in a statement that he believes Greece will find it difficult to maintain her present ambiguous position. The foreign minister, says the correspondent, considers that the entente allies are justified not only in blockading Deodaghat and the Bulgarian coast but in any other measures to prevent the Teutonic allies taking advantage of the neutral position of a third power.

M. Sazonov is said to have expressed the opinion that it was high time the entente allies should think of purely economic methods for safeguarding their interests.

"The war must come to an end some time," the minister is quoted as saying, "and we should not maintain dissolving commercial treaties between the allies. As England has waived her century-old prejudice against national service, we may here find suitable ground for the discussion of a new treaty and the possibility of excluding our enemies from the benefits they

It is reported that the old Patterson Rubber plant in Middlesex street will be put in operation within two months. The plant is now owned by the American Steam Gauge & Valve Co., which has been installing machinery there for some time.

Agent E. E. Blake of the Saco-Lowell shops, who was formerly in charge of the local plant, will now divide his time between the shop in this city and the one in Saco, Me.

by the sentences and fines meted out to the strikers who participated in Monday's rioting in the Gate city.

Arthur S. Thomas, formerly superintendent of the Stark mills, Manchester, N. H., who was reported to have gone to Columbus, Ga., has gone to the Asheville cotton mills instead, the previous report being erroneous.

Charles Farrell, second at the Tremont & Suffolk mill, will bring his aggregation of bowling celebrities over to the Y.M.C.A. alleys next Thursday night and stack them up against the institute bowling champs. Charlie will officiate as anchor man for his team.

The machinists employed at the Lamson company will hold an important meeting tonight in the union quarters in Middle street, at which action will be taken on the refusal of their demands for increased wages and shorter working hours by the company officials.

Machinists Meeting Friday Night

A meeting of the committee representing the machinists employed at the Lamson Co., was held Tuesday night in Cotton Sellers' hall, Middle street, at which it was voted to call a special meeting for Friday night at which action on striking at the Lamson plant will be taken. Organizer Ross Hall states that if arrangements have been made for the past few days, success in a strike will not be necessary to enforce the demands of the machinists. The state board, it is known, has been working on the Lamson case for some time, in an effort to adjust matters, and it is believed that their work has been very satisfactory to both parties. Organizer Hall visited the Saco-Lowell, Perkins, Lamson and the Chalmers machine shops yesterday and addressed the machinists at each plant.

EXPECT BRITISH TO QUIT

The Germans Look for Peace by Spring—Say Allies are Beaten—Teutons Want Colonies Back

BERLIN, Oct. 8.—(Correspondence)

"But by spring we shall probably have peace," said a highly placed and prominent state official in conversation with the Associated Press correspondent. It may be taken as indicative of the view of the probable duration of the war held in German government quarters, or at any rate, in certain influential circles of the government.

The person quoted occupies a position which lends much weight to his opinion on this subject and the remark was made incidentally during a discussion of certain possibilities in the Balkan situation.

Pressed to give a reason for his optimism, the official replied that he based the expectations largely on "the sound business sense of the British," which would lead them to move for peace as soon as the saw nothing was to be gained by continuing the war.

"We now hold in the west," he continued, "a strong fortified line enclosing a great conclave of French and Belgian territory. We shall soon have a similar line fortified in the east. Behind these two lines we can sit tight and all our efforts of our enemies to break through."

"I have much confidence in the business enterprise of the British and think that when once they have found the Dardanelles cannot be forced, this will lead them to take steps in the direction of peace."

Awaiting Overtures

The correspondent suggested that business men usually are unwilling to make a contract wherein all the advantages of conditions are on the side of the other parties to it, and that it was customary in business circles to have some definite idea of the terms upon which an agreement would be possible before sitting down to draw up a contract.

He asked whether this "business" would not be facilitated if the opponents had some definite information as to the maximum terms upon which Germany would be ready to discuss conditions of peace. He replied that for Germany to make a statement at this time on the conditions of peace might possibly be interpreted as a confession of weakness, and that for the present he preferred to await overtures from the other side.

May Be Some "Sounding Out"

Since this conversation the correspondent has heard similar remarks from other officials. The vigor with which the various political groups and the industrial, commercial and agricultural organizations are pursuing the discussion of the tabooed topic of the "aims of the war"—which, although public discussion of it in the press is forbidden, is the absorbing topic in German society—indicates, too, that the government is giving serious consideration to the subject of peace.

This discussion and the oracular utterances of Dr. Carl Helfferich, secretary of the German imperial treasury; Sir Edward Grey, British foreign secretary, and other responsible personages, on possible and impossible conditions of peace, give color to the supposition that something may be going on behind the curtain.

Such "sounding out," if undertaken at the instance of persons in authority, undoubtedly has been done informally and in such a manner as to permit of a disavowal should circumstances require.

Looking for an indemnity. No statement whatever as to Germany's peace conditions can be obtained, nor is it even certain that the government has reached any final conclusion as to the extent of "ransom" for the future security of Germany to which the emperor and the chancellor have referred repeatedly in public utterances.

Should it be permitted, however, to hazard a guess based not on any authoritative statements, but on personal observations and deductions, and marks dropped from time to time in official circles, the correspondent would say Germany's terms at present include neither the absorption of Belgium nor other wholesale annexations of the extent demanded by the "blue sky" enthusiasts, who seem bound on adding to Germany virtually everything now occupied by a foreign power.

The cardinal point in the desires of official Germany in its assumptions are correct, is at present a large indemnity. This is demanded not only to compensate Germany for the steady ly growing war costs, but to provide one of those "guarantees" against future attack referred to.

The usual reply to arguments that exhausted nations probably would be unable to raise the huge sums in question is that they need only cease paying out the billions spent annually on armaments, or materially reduce such payments to finance the required indemnity.

Want the Colonies Back

The second cardinal point is the restoration of Germany's colonial empire in undiminished form, with certain additions presumably at the expense of Belgium. That nation would be permitted to retain its independence and territories, with the exception of the Meuse line of fortresses.

The demand for annexation of a strip of territory down to the coast line has been dropped. If, indeed, it ever formed part of the government's program. Even naval experts are no longer agreed on the necessity or advisability of securing the much-discussed naval base on the English channel, particularly in view of the development of submarines and the increase in the range of action.

An insistent demand is in some quarters that in case of withdrawal from Belgium, Germany should retain control of the railroad for a number of years, but this, so far as is ascertainable, is not an essential condition.

France is in looked to to provide a large part of the expected indemnity. Territorial demands against France apparently are confined to rectifications of the frontier for strategic reasons.

Price on Russian Territory

In the east the situation is less clear. Farther in the war the government apparently did not contemplate or even desire accession of territory at Russia's expense beyond a possible advance of the frontier for strategic reasons to the strong defensive swamp lands in the region of the Bug, Narw and Warta rivers.

It was felt that retention of Russian Poland by Russia would prevent certain advantages from the viewpoint of German internal politics. The steady chain of victories and the insistence of Austria produced a change, however.

Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, in his August speech, indicated clearly a determination to deprive Russia of her Polish territories, but whether these districts would have some form of national autonomy, be annexed to Austria-Hungary or administered by Germany and Austria-Hungary jointly is still uncertain.

This statement of Germany's demands may seem to be a cool assumption of certain ultimate victory at a time when Germany's opponents are announcing their firm determination to prosecute the war to a successful end. It is symptomatic of the positive assurance of virtually all Germans, who are convinced the German armies cannot be beaten and that the Balkan situation soon will clear up in their favor.

This will give them a road to Turkey, whence copper, cotton, foodstuffs and other supplies may be obtained. Then, they say, Germany can wait until her opponents are ready to acknowledge themselves beaten.

To all arguments as to the impossibility of keeping the method of the nation on the firing line for a protracted period, as to the steadily growing financial burden of the war, as to the paralysis of German business life except as devoted to war purposes, and as to the general desire for peace, they reply that other nations are suffering equally and that Germany will not be the first to crack.

DIED MARTYR'S DEATH

CIRCUMSTANCES CONNECTED WITH EXECUTION OF BRITISH NURSE BY GERMANS

LONDON, Oct. 21, 4:40 a. m.—The circumstances connected with the execution by the German authorities at Brussels of Miss Edith Cavell, a British nurse, occupy constantly increasing attention in London. The forthcoming publication of the report of Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium, on his efforts in Miss Cavell's behalf, is awaited with keenest interest. This report will be published in tomorrow's issue of the newspapers.

The Mail says the report is a long one, and adds:

"The account will strike a note of horror throughout the world. It will tell of the wonderful heroism of a woman who had nursed German wounded, and who had been arrested for her part in the work of the Red Cross. It will tell of the cruel and unjust treatment she received, and of the noble and self-sacrificing efforts of the British government to secure her release. It will tell of the final execution, and of the brave and unflinching stand she made to the last."

English newspapers draw a parallel between the case of Miss Cavell in Belgium and that of Mrs. Louise Herbert, who was sentenced to six months' imprisonment as a spy in England. Mrs. Herbert's appeal was heard at Durham yesterday. She is a German, wife of an English emigrant at Darlington. She admitted that she had given information regarding munitions and intended to send this information to Germany. The judge asked her yesterday:

"Did you intend to send the information to Germany if you got the chance?"

"Yes, I did," she replied. Mrs. Herbert also admitted she had corresponded with Germany through friends in Switzerland. The judge, astonished by her frank answers, remarked: "This woman has a conscience—she wishes to answer truthfully and deserves credit for that. At the same time, she is dangerous." He affirmed the sentence of six months' imprisonment.

PAWTUCKET BRIDGE AGAIN

Harry W. J. Howe Requests State Highway Commission to Investigate Condition of Bridge

Relative to the alleged unsafe condition of Pawtucket bridge, Harry W. J. Howe has sent the following letter to the state highway commission: Lowell, Mass., Oct. 20, 1915.

Gentlemen:—As a citizen of Lowell and as a resident of the city known as Pawtucketville, I desire to call the attention of your honorable body to the present deplorable and unsafe condition of the morning of the bridge at Pawtucket falls, known as "Pawtucket bridge."

During the past few months the wheels of several heavy loaded wagons and auto trucks have gone through the flooring to the hubs as the result of the floor beams having rotted to a pulp.

At each time of accident these breaks have been replaced with a solitary floor plank, while the rotted timbers beneath the floor planking are permitted to remain, and about weekly they are replaced in the public press the report that another loaded team has gone through the Pawtucket bridge.

The city council of Lowell appears to regard the dangerous condition as utterly unimportant and because of its attitude of lethargy and culpable indifference the people of Lowell crossing this span are subjecting themselves to the possible danger of losing their lives in one of the greatest catastrophes that has ever befallen them. It is a matter of little consequence to the people as to who shall be held criminally responsible in the event of disaster and human lives crushed out on the rocks 19 feet below.

Assuming that your honorable body has superior jurisdiction over the public highways of the commonwealth, and that the city authorities are derelict in their duty, failing to regard the public safety of its citizens as a matter of any importance, the only recourse seems to be in appealing to authorities higher up to step in and demand mandatory action.

I would respectfully request that the state highway commission at once cause a thorough investigation of the bridge floor beams and planking, and if found unsafe for untruncated travel, that the Lowell city authorities be awakened from their Rip Van Winkle slumber, and Pawtucket bridge put in safe condition or closed to public travel. Very respectfully,

Harry W. J. Howe.

THE ZEPPELIN MENACE

BARON SYDONHAM CRITICIZED

LONDON DEFENSES IN HOUSE OF LORDS

LONDON, Oct. 21, 2:55 a.m.—The Zeppelin menace occupied the greater part of the time last evening in the house of lords.

Baron Sydonham, who for many years was in the Royal Engineers, criticized the London defenses.

"The great difficulties of obtaining protection against aircraft bombs," he said, "have not yet been appreciated. The Zeppelin must first be found by searchlight, the range of which is often considerably less than that of the gun and is influenced largely by atmospheric conditions. The gunner must know the range within very narrow limits of accuracy. The time fuse of the shell must be set very accurately. The sighting of the gun, moreover, is a matter requiring the greatest skill to put untrained and unpracticed men in charge of guns like these is foolish."

"My impression of the shooting in the last raid is that much of it was at random, the shells bursting nowhere near the Zeppelin."

"The question of the illumination of London is a difficult one. The illumination is kept low and to maintain the Zeppelin crew from recognizing special objects in the city; nothing can be gained from further decreasing it. The lower the illumination becomes the easier it is for those in the Zeppelins to see signals which spies may be flashing. I think we have now gone too far in reducing the illumination for when fog comes it will make traffic in the streets very difficult. The suggestion that aeroplanes should cruise over London nightly when Zeppelins are expected is useless. We already have lost some lives and damaged a great many aeroplanes by sending them up on wild goose chases in the dark. The real chance for an aeroplane to strike at the Zeppelins when they arrive at the coast and before the light falls, I am strongly opposed to reprisals. I believe we can assure ourselves with proper organization and the proper handling of guns that these raids will cease."

The Earl of Portsmouth, in urging that the population be ordered on the approach of Zeppelins, said it was only a miracle that at the time of the last raid, there was no fearful catastrophe in a certain place of entertainment.

THE POLICE CONVENTION

STATE ASSOCIATION HOLDING 15TH ANNUAL SESSION AT HAVERHILL

—LOWELL MEN ATTEND

The 15th annual state convention of the Massachusetts State Police association, which opened in Haverhill yesterday forenoon and is being attended by a delegation of Lowell members, will be brought to a close late this afternoon with the election of officers. State President John J. Sullivan of Lawrence is presiding.

The convention is being staged at the Elks' home on Summer street. Yesterday, after Mayor Bartlett had welcomed the delegates to the city, there were several opening speeches and a report of the committee on credentials. The reports were read and the election committees were appointed. There is no contest for president this year as it is the custom of the association to choose its head officer for two years. There are brisk battles, however, for places on the executive committee, there being 20 candidates for eight positions.

Last night the delegates enjoyed a banquet in Elks' hall with speeches by several prominent city and state officials. This morning the visitors were treated to an automobile tour of the city and upon their return will proceed to the election of officers.

GEN. SMUTS WINS OUT

RE-ELECTED TO PARLIAMENT BY
PRETORIA CONSTITUENCY—MANY
LEADERS DEFEATEDCAPE TOWN, via London, Oct. 21.
Gen. Jan O. Smuts, minister of the interior, mines and defence of the Union of South Africa, has been re-elected to parliament by the Pretoria constituency, over the Nationalist and Labor candidates.

The triumph of Gen. Smuts in Pretoria is the only indication thus far of the probable outcome of the contest between the adherents of Premier Botha and J. B. M. Hertzog, former minister of justice. The Unionists are proving unexpectedly strong, having already returned thirty members, which was the total conceded the party before the polling began. The strong showing of the Unionists thus far is accounted for by the fact that the returns from the cities of Cape Province have been received before those of the country districts, where the South African and Nationalist parties dominate. Towns in other provinces which have reported, voted heavily for the Nationalist return. The Nationalist returns thus far have been poor but are expected to improve with the rural reports.

A number of leaders in all the parties apparently have suffered reverses. This is especially true of the standard bearers of the Labor party which has been rent in twain by the factions for and against Gen. Botha. Frederick H. Creswell, a Labor leader, who has supported Gen. Botha, was defeated in two constituencies in which he was a candidate.

CONGRATULATE VON KLUCK

Messengers Pour in on Veteran German
General—Was in the Service For a Period of 50 Years

BERLIN, Oct. 21. (By wireless to Sayville, N. Y.)—Gen. Alexander H. R. von Kluck, the famous commander of the German first army in the drive through Belgium and France during the early months of the war, who was wounded by shrapnel fire on the front in France last spring, received a card of congratulation from the Overseas News Agency on the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the general's entrance into the German army service.

"As the correspondent was paying his respects," says the news agency, "in by messengers from all over the empire. A special remembrance from Emperor William to the general, which the correspondent was shown, was a beautiful portrait of the emperor."

"The general's health is restored and he is ready for a return to duty, although one wound on his shoulder is still open. Looking the picture of vigor and not a day over 50, the general, strolling around the garden of his home, told the correspondent the story of his campaign through Belgium and France and how he came to receive his wound. His oldest son, 17, was with him."

FAMOUS ACTRESS SAYS
COFFEE HARMS
COMPLEXIONDeclares Coffee Habit Grows on One,
Dulls the Mind, and Weakens
the Muscles.

People who desire to retain youthful looks and a clear, healthy skin, may be surprised to learn that so eminent an authority on beauty as Lillian Russell declares, in a recent issue of the Chicago Herald, that "both coffee and tea have a harmful effect on the complexion. The most youthful skin can be made dry and sallow by the overindulgence of tea or coffee."

"It always depresses me when I hear a woman say, 'I must have a cup of coffee the first thing in the morning, and generally sip it in bed.' She would be shocked if she heard someone else say that they must have a cocktail before they could begin the day."

"I heard a most beautiful old woman say, 'Do you think I would dry up my blood and ruin my skin by drinking tea?'"

"The coffee habit grows on one, and when coffee is used as a stimulant there is a reaction, which means depression and causes overindulgence or the use of stronger stimulants. In the continued use, stimulants dull the mind and weaken the muscles."

NOTE.—It is a satisfaction to know that in the food world, instant Postum, increasing thousands are finding a delightful morning beverage—a beverage free from drugs or any harmful substance, and free from coffee's ill, but rich in those food elements supplied by Nature for building good blood and strong, healthy bodies.

RUSSIA CONTRADICTS REPORT OF
CAPTURE BY BULGARIANS—
GREAT BATTLE CONTINUESATHENS, Oct. 20, via Paris, Oct. 21.
3.05 a. m.—A despatch received by the Russian legation announces that the Bulgarian troops have not taken Vranja, as has been reported. They are said to have been held up by the formidable defenses of Vranja. However, they have succeeded in occupying the railroad north of the town. The great battle continues, it is stated, and remains indecisive. French troops guarding the communications are said to have left Glogov in the direction of Vranja.

The Serbian legation denies that the Bulgarians have occupied Zajcar. It is stated that the two forts which the Bulgarians claim to have taken are ancient works for temporary fortifications which were erected in 1913 and which the Serbians did not consider it worth while to defend, the defenses of Zajcar having been moved to the rear.

Walsh and Sup. of Police Welch, piano solos by Harold Meehan and songs by John F. Roane, Jr., Harold Hennessey, James F. Gorman and Thomas Baxter.

BRITISH TRENCH BLOWN UP

London Official Report Says Garrison Escaped Turkish Mine—Little Fighting Above GroundLONDON, Oct. 21.—A British official communication dealing with the operations on the Gallipoli peninsula, made public last night, says:
"A general officer commanding the Mediterranean expedition reports that during the last week there has been little in report as regards the operations above ground, but that on both sides mining activity has been considerable."

At Hill 60 the Turks exploded a mine and an evidently predetermined hour. Unfortunately for the enemy the mine exploded beneath his own lines and entanglements, causing much damage to his own trench but none to ours."

"In another part of our line the enemy succeeded in exploding a mine under our trenches. The garrison, however, had already been withdrawn, but five of our miners working underground were buried alive and given up as lost. Three days later, having dug themselves out, they reappeared, little worse for their ordeal."

5000 KILLED YEARLY BY TRAINS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—More than 5000 persons are killed each year while trespassing on railroad tracks or stealing rides on trains, according to figures presented at yesterday's session of the fourth annual congress of the National Safety council. This does not include grade crossing accidents, which have increased since the automobile became a common vehicle, according to the report presented to show the great waste of life in the United States.

"The man who drinks, even moderately, is unfit to drive an automobile, and should be forbidden to sit at the wheel of any car," said J. C. Rose, chief claim agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, in an address. He urged that drivers' licenses be issued only to total abstainers.

Legendre Injured While Working in Theatre at Lawrence

LAWRENCE, Oct. 21.—William Mosher of 31 Emerson st., Boston, was badly burned on the hips and legs and Frank Legendre of 120 Lowell st., this city, was less seriously injured when an explosion occurred yesterday afternoon in a small shed opposite the new Empire theatre, Lawrence. Both were employed as painters on the theatre. Mosher's clothing was in flames when he ran into the open. An alarm was sounded from box 13 and the flames were extinguished after a few hundred dollars' worth of paints and other materials were destroyed. The injured men were taken to the General Hospital and Legendre was able to go home.

PRES. WILSON ADVISES SWEDISH
MINISTER HE CAN DO NOTHING
MORE FOR HILLSTROM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—President Wilson yesterday advised W. A. F. Ekengren, Swedish minister here, that he could do nothing further for Joseph Hillstrom, a Swedish citizen, under death sentence in Utah for murder.

At the request of Minister Ekengren, the president several weeks ago asked Governor Spry to postpone Hillstrom's execution until new evidence could be presented. His stay was granted, but no material evidence having been presented, the state now is preparing to carry out the court's sentence.

DIED TO TAKE THE STUMP

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Charles Sumner Bird, former leader of the progressives, will this week take the stump for Mr. McCall in accordance with his promise made after the state convention. His first address will be in Attleboro tomorrow evening, and he will also speak in Malden and Melrose next Thursday evening and at the big rally in Worcester Friday evening, Oct. 23.

BRITISH-AMERICAN SOCIAL CLUB
Three new members were admitted and several applications for membership received at a meeting of the British-American Social club held last night at Post 120 hall. The members turned in $57.20 toward the Queen Mary campaign fund a branch of the Red Cross, and it was voted that the money be sent to the president of the Lowell branch, Miss Ruth Burke. George Whalley proved the banner collector. He turned in $21, which was more than any other one member, and the amount represented 114 contributions.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

If you want to see a good play go to the Opera House. "Maggie Pepper," Rose Stahl's greatest success, is the big noise and the packed houses at this popular playhouse all the week are loud in their praise of the piece which has a clever punch with "Within the Law." "Maggie Pepper" has certainly struck the fancy of Lowell audiences. The play has a good opportunity to expand its popularity with the big crowds filling out of the Opera House only the highest and greatest praise is heard. The play has made such a big hit that the advance sale of seats indicates the hanging out of the S. B. O. sign at the remaining performances, so if you have not already done so, phone 251 now and reserve your seats.

Ann O'Day as Maggie Pepper is scoring her biggest triumph since the opening of the season. "Maggie Pepper" has done many splendid roles since the opening of the season, there is none in which she had as good opportunities to display her talents as in this piece. Her performance in this piece is admirable. Her partner, too, is scoring a tremendous hit as Joe Booth, and the play is a big success. The very letter Joe Booth, Dora Booth, Henry Crosson, David Quinn, Clara Sneyd, Carson Davis, Gertrude Shirley, May Gerald, Margery Cutler, Richard Barry and other members of the company play their parts finely. There are many beautiful scenic settings in "Maggie Pepper" and of special interest is a beautiful display of points secured through the courtesy of the J. L. Thompson company. The entire production is one that will not soon be forgotten by the theatre patrons of Lowell. Secure seats now for the remaining performances.

Sunday afternoon and night, the Opera House will furnish another gala program of vaudeville and picture features with five big acts and as many reels of the latest pictures. The Opera House has given wonderful Sunday shows and next Sunday's promise to surpass any of them, with
"That Sentiment," a clever musical organization as one of the features.
Seats are now selling for both the performances so get yours early and be sure of a good night's entertainment.Next week, starting with a special bon bon matinee on Monday, the Emerson Players will present that great success, "Bought and Paid For." This is the play that everybody in Lowell has been waiting to see. It is a play with a great dramatic wallop. Patrons are advised to secure their seats for as early in the week as possible and many as are able to come on Monday and Tuesday as the attraction is positively limited to one week and hundreds are certain to be turned away at all performances. Seats are now selling for the entire week.No telling of the plot can give you anything more than a faint idea of the wonderful character drawings of the play. There are four very important roles, each representing a different and distinct type, and each is a faithful composite portrait of a modern man whom most of you are acquainted with. In fact, so cleverly are the characteristics shown and so realistic is the language placed in the mouths of the principals that you cannot help but liken these people to persons you have known.B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
"The Fashion Show" at the Keith theatre, this week, completely fills the bill once more. It is proving to be a real headline diversion, put forward in a thoroughly fascinating manner, and with the additional charm of interesting four real Broadway models on whom are built the most charming gowns of the present mode. Hugo Bennett, who has been so conspicuously successful in the particular feature of the company, although his assistance throughout is of the very best. Prior, as a rube comedian, Blanche La-Trell, as "Nourissa," his daughter, and Helen Juliette as his chief model are all most satisfactory. The three other models have come direct to the musical comedy from several of the best modiste's establishments in New York.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Laura Hope Crews, the celebrated star whose fame as an entertainer has spread broadcast throughout the land, makes her second appearance at the Merrimack Square theatre today. She will be seen today, Friday and Saturday in her latest Paramount production, "Blackbirds," shown in five acts.
There is another five-act feature on the bill for three weeks, "The Power of Jewel," featuring the attractive and captivating Ella Hall. You will be delighted at Miss Hall's excellent interpretation in this absorbing five-act
masterpiece. One has but to stop and consider for the briefest of moments to realize that this theatre offers a longer program of feature plays at a much lower price of admission than many of the Boston theatres. The remaining numbers Friday and Saturday are a humorous hit and the Paramount
Travel pictures.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Don't forget the "Amateur program" tonight. There is nothing theatrically fancier than the hour passed with the trios. Sunday, today, are always valued, and the audience is the joy.
From its decision there is no appeal.
The usual picture classics are given in addition, including a Viennese production, "The Power of Jewel," a war drama that makes an appeal for peace. "Jim West, Gunner," and other standard photoplays.
Lowell people of discriminating taste always find entertainment in their baking at the Academy of Music.

JEWEL THEATRE

One of the wildest and most amazing dramas ever put forward will be seen as a special attraction at the Jewel theatre Friday and Saturday. In it wild animals attack the actors—real-ism to its utmost is brought before you. "Vengeance of the Wild," the title is announced as a five-part production, and every moment before the film is taken up by sensational stunts with the kings of the forest world. It is rarely indeed that a person can sit down and witness a film with so many thrilling scenes participating. Of course there is considerable romance as is in any play, for a play without a romance, resembles a king without a crown—so the heart interest stuff is thrown in. Remember that many other attractions will also be shown besides this famous five-part masterpiece.

OWL THEATRE

"Oronsark," the great film in which Francis X. Bushman is featured, will be
picture grips one with its interest.
The theme is woven carefully about the thrilling situations, and the closest of three reels, "The Power of Jewel," featuring the attractive and captivating Ella Hall. You will be delighted at Miss Hall's excellent interpretation in this absorbing five-act
masterpiece. One has but to stop

FACT VS. BUNCOMBE

Every day of the present campaign reveals more and more the insincerity of the republican campaigners and their lack of a real issue. Their spellbinders are studiously refraining from attacking Governor Walsh or his administration, except in a vague and indirect manner, and while they condemn any attempt of the democrats to make capital out of the administration of Woodrow Wilson, they are basing most of their appeals on attacks on the tariff bill, the Mexican situation, etc. Meanwhile the democratic candidates are dealing with facts that hit home to this state, feeling that the people will know how to decide at this time between those who attack the Wilson administration and those who support it.

Mr. McCall is still shouting about the tariff. In Brockton he condemned the placing of shoes on the free list and in Fall River he condemned the tariff on cotton. He also condemned some of Governor Walsh's appointments, mindful of the fact that in appointments no governor could possibly please everybody, and also feeling in the good old stand-pat way that everything politically desirable belongs by right divine to the republicans. With regard to the tariff—and we wonder how Mr. McCall's election would affect the tariff one way or the other—the republican candidate professes to fear that with the end of the war there will be a great importation of cotton fabrics. This is sheer nonsense. We may have to compete with foreign countries in the extension of our markets abroad, but such competition is necessary for healthy trade. To see what the stopping of competition would do, one has but to study the chemical situation. Chemicals that are made here and that have no competition from German products have soared in price to astonishing figures, without any apparent reason other than the greed of the manufacturer who knows that he has the consumer at his mercy. Let the people beware lest at this time of war scares the great business interests get concessions for which the country will eventually pay dearly.

The tariff is only a very slight consideration of our recent national program. It was passed with the approval of a president who has admittedly kept us out of war. With a leader of a different temperament, we might now be in the hellish struggle. Where, then, would be our industry or prosperity and what would a high tariff avail us? The greatest feat of our national administration has been in the conduct of our foreign affairs, and no partisan opponent of intelligence attacks our foreign affairs. The administration has kept peace with dignity and has triumphed against the greatest military system that the world has ever seen, thus safeguarding the rights of neutrals and setting the United States up as a shining light in a dismal world. If the national administration is made an issue by Mr. McCall, the democrats of Massachusetts need not fear to stand solidly behind President Wilson.

WALSH FOR PROGRESS

Republicans make very extravagant claims for the scholarly attainments of Mr. McCall. They say that he has made some very fine addresses and written some books which are too literary to be popular. Democrats do not contend the point, but while admitting that he is a talented and cultured gentleman they make the counter claim that Governor David I. Walsh has shown more interest in the education of the great masses of the people than any former governor of Massachusetts. This practical interest of Governor Walsh has been shown by his long and strenuous fight for the extension of higher education to all, a fight which has secured for the people of this state free correspondence schools and educational extension departments in the working out of which opportunities for education will be placed at the service of all. No one who has heard Governor Walsh expound his ideas for the advancement of education could doubt his sincerity or misunderstand the pardonable pride with which he points to his achievements for education as one of his most notable services to the state.

In speaking of his fight for educational extension at recent rallies, Governor Walsh reminded his hearers that during the last quarter of a century over 50,000 people have registered and paid for correspondence education in a single private correspondence institution, paying out many millions for education that might have been given by the state at a slight cost. It is a matter for common knowledge to all that every year many in this city take up such private correspondence courses or else go several evenings per week to Boston at great expense to get an education that with the development of Governor Walsh's plans will be available in Lowell under state auspices. The governor does not wish to supplant the colleges or to interfere with their great activities, but he has striven to give all who aspire to higher education a chance to gratify their most laudable ambition with the approval and support of leading educators. A republican legislature has made a petty appropriation this year but it will suffer to start the work.

and when principle conquers partisanship, the educational plan of Governor Walsh will be acknowledged by all as a great progressive step for the advancement of the people.

LOWELL-MADE GOODS

There is every reason to anticipate that the great industrial exposition to be held in the Kaslo for five days commencing November 16 will be a real success. It ought to appeal to the public for it is free of charge and will be entertaining and educational to a great extent, and the opportunity will appeal to every manufacturer who has an interest in civic affairs and who realizes the value of publicity.

If asked by an outsider what is made in Lowell, how many Lowellites could give a satisfactory or accurate answer? Most people would mention cotton and woolen fabrics, shoes, patent medicine and carriages, but outside of that small list their knowledge would be hazy. As a matter of fact, Lowell has several hundreds of manufacturing plants large and small and every article from a pin to a representative in the list. It is up to the heads of all our manufacturing plants to get in touch with the board of trade in order to be in on the exposition which shall reveal to Lowell the extent and the variety of our industries.

There is a rare opportunity to develop a real spirit of civic pride and enthusiasm. Without our industries there would be no work for our hundreds of thousands and consequently there would be no city. It may be that comparatively few local industries depend on local patronage, but it is desirable that we be mindful of the needs of all and support them loyally. We have the chance to make the Kaslo a scene of beauty and activity from November 15 to November 20, and all our citizens, young and old, will have a chance to see in a concrete form just what kind of a city Lowell is and what it is doing. All together for success!

THE NEW JERSEY DECISION

Owing to the entirely different complexion of New Jersey the defeat of woman suffrage there by a large majority cannot be taken as indicative of the result in Massachusetts, New York or other states where the issue will come up in November; still, the contest had been described as close, and the result must be discouraging to the workers for equal suffrage everywhere. It will tend to make them renew their fight with greater zeal, though it will give the anti-suffrage argument that they will make the most of. One surprising feature of the New Jersey vote was that the towns sided with the cities in defeating the amendment, and the repudiation of suffrage in the president's own precinct, after his announcement in favor, has also been widely commented on. So far as practical tests go, woman suffrage cannot be viewed as a party matter, and there is no disposition among the voters to look upon it as a pressing issue. In spite of persistent campaigns, conducted most commendably, there is a spirit of general indifference in Massachusetts—and it is not confined to men by any means. It is the vote of those who are not strongly pro-suffrage or professedly against equal suffrage that will count eventually.

LODGING HOUSE GAS

A surprisingly large number of persons are found dead annually in cheaper lodging houses of this section, owing to the escape of illuminating gas while they slept. In many instances the report of the medical examiner states that death was accidental, due to ignorance on the part of the roomer or to carelessness induced by drunkenness or other cause. There was a peculiar case in Lawrence a few days ago. A man was found dead in a room in a cheap lodging house in which the gas outlets had been stopped by scum. It was supposed that he had vainly striven to light the gas and falling had left the jet open. During the night the gas filled the room and the man died as he slept. Such instances show that there should be some periodical inspection of lodging houses, especially those that cater to transient trade in order that the law may safeguard human life as far as possible. It might also be possible to see that there would be less menace for those not familiar with its uses or unable to distinguish danger.

BABIES AND FLATS

In some of the larger cities—and in some sections of our own city—there is a pretty discouraging proportion of parents who have young children in flats for a tenement or flat. They are not regarded favorably by landlords, and the mention of them is enough to end many a prospective lease transaction. There was an interesting case in this connection in New York a day or so ago when a landlord sought to dispossess a family which the stork had just visited.

They brought the matter to the courts and the lease was made the subject of legal contention. It plainly stated that nothing objectionable must be brought to the flat, and the landlord designated a crying baby as objectionable. Judge David decided for the family, declaring that all babies cry more or less and that they were entitled to the protection of a roof, even when crying. He will be commended by many parents who have experienced the difficulties of home hunting with a baby.

His Revenge

An old farmer, on his first visit to New York, thought he would go to the theatre and see "The Forty Thieves." When he got to the theatre he asked for a tip-top seat, and laid down a five-dollar bill. The box-office man handed the ticket and three dollars in change. The farmer (accustomed to 25-cent shows) picked up the three dollars and walked off without his ticket, whereupon the box-office man shouted, "Here, here, you've forgotten your ticket!" The farmer shouted back, "Keep it, you— I don't want to see the other thirty-nine."

The strangers looked at each other surprised. "Most remarkable country, for roosters," said one, as he gazed intently at the surrounding hills. Then they moved along.—New York World.

Quadrant Tan-Signs

Germany probably holds the record for out of the way signs and fantastic names. Writes M. L. B., in the Boston Transcript. The most absurd results are usually obtained by the name of some animal with a more or less suitable object. The Comfortable (German) and the Cold Frog, both of them in Berlin, are certainly left in the shade by the Angry Ant (Orr, in Westphalia) and the Stiff Dog (Berlin). The Lame Louse is an inn in a suburb of Berlin, and not far from it is the Thirsty Pelican. The Dirty Parlor, the Bloody Bones, the Musical Cars, the Fourhundredweight Man, and the Box-cy Den are all in Berlin or the neighborhood, and the Old Stray Bag in Leipzig. The Blue Bunch is in Stockholm, in the Palatinat, and the Shoulder Blade in Jericho. The Last Tear is a landlord's notion for the name of his inn, situated near a graveyard, visited by returning mourners, and is of frequent occurrence throughout the fatherland.

When My Ship Comes In

Somewhere, out on the blue sea sailing, Where the winds dance and spin, Beyond the reach of my eager hailing, Over the breakers' din; Out where the dark storm clouds are lifting, Out where the blinding fog is drifting, Out where the treacherous sand is shifting, My ship comes in.

O I have watched till my eyes were aching, Day after weary day; O I have hoped till my heart was breaking, While the long nights ebb'd away; Could I but know where the waves had tossed her, Could I but know what storms had lost her, Out in the twilight gray!

But though the storms her course have altered, Surely the port she'll win, Never my faith in my ship has faltered, I know she is coming home; For through the restless ways of her roaming, Through the mad rush of the wild waves foaming, Through the white crest of the billows coming, My ship is coming in.

Breasting the tides where the gulls are flying, Swiftly she's coming in; Shallows and deeps and rocks defying, Bravely she's coming in; Precious the love she will bring to bless me, Snowy the arms she will bring to caress me, In the proud purple of kings she will dress me— My ship that is coming in.

White in the sunshine her sails will be gleaming, See where my ship comes in; At midnight and peak her colors are streaming, Proudly she's sailing in; Love, hope and joy on her decks are cheering, Music will welcome her glad appearing, And my heart will sing at her stately nearing, When my ship comes in.

VOTES FOR "LOST CAUSE"

PRES. WILSON AND SEC. TUMULTY "GOOD LOSERS" ON NEW JERSEY VOTE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—There was not the slightest sign of gloom in or about the White House yesterday when it was realized that the suffrage amendment had been "snowed under" in New Jersey at yesterday's election, and that President Wilson and Secretary Tumulty had cast their votes for a "lost cause."

Over in the war department, Secretary Garrison, also a New Jerseyite, who came out in favor of the amendment, was smiling, apparently happy. Everywhere were evidences that the high administration officials who had endorsed woman suffrage as a state proposition were "good losers."

Neither was there any sulking over the fact that President Wilson's home precinct in Princeton went against the amendment. Had Mr. Wilson not voted the majority against it would have been 11.

The general disposition was to accept the result philosophically and to wish the women of New Jersey better luck when next they make a fight for the franchise.

It was recalled that at the time he made public announcement of his intention to vote for the amendment, President Wilson distinctly stated that he spoke as an individual citizen of the state of New Jersey and not as head of the democratic party in the nation. He specifically declared that he did not make the statement for the purpose of influencing the votes of other men.

In view of this fact, no attention is being paid to statements by politicians opposed to Mr. Wilson that the landslide against the amendment was a rebuke for him. The president took the ground that the suffrage issue in his state was not a partisan matter. His friends declare that the result of the election is utterly without significance so far as the president is politically concerned.

If the prognosticators who deemed the New Jersey amendment to defeat are still to be relied on, similar results will follow in New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

It is hoped by politicians opposed to woman suffrage that if New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania next month, the question will be given such a setback as to remove it from the national stage at least until after the 1916 presidential campaign.

Despite his repeated assurances that he is opposed to a "lost cause" suffrage amendment, President Wilson will be asked again to campaign for it.

Mrs. Robert W. Baker of this city took the White House yesterday for an engagement with the president to present a committee from a convention of women voters from San Francisco, bringing resolutions for federal action. The committee now is on its way east.

Mrs. Baker told Secretary Tumulty that inasmuch as the president had voted for suffrage in New Jersey the women thought he might change his attitude. Mr. Tumulty said the question would be taken up with the president. GEN. JOFFRE'S ORDER

GENERAL ORDER ISSUED BEFORE GREAT OFFENSIVE—COMMANDER PROUD OF TROOPS

PARIS, Oct. 21, 3 a. m.—An order of the day, issued by Gen. Joffre, commander-in-chief of the French army, before the beginning of the recent offensive movement of the entente troops in Champagne, is published here, as follows:

"General Headquarters, Sept. 23. "General Order, No. 12. "Soldiers of the Republic: After months of waiting which has enabled us to increase our forces and resources, while our adversary has used up his, the hour has come to attack, to win, and to add fresh pages of glory to the annals of the Marne, Flanders, the Vosges and Arras. Behind the whitening of the snow, the blood of the toils of the factories of France, where your brothers have worked for us night and day—you will go to the assault all together along the whole front, in close union with the armies of our allies. "Your plan will be irresistible. It will carry you with the first effort to the adversary's batteries beyond the fortified lines he opposes to you. You will find him neither poised nor rest until victory has been gained. Go forward with stout hearts for the deliverance of your native soil, for triumph, justice and liberty. (Signed) "J. Joffre."

How well this appeal was answered is shown by another order issued Oct. 8, which follows:

"The commander-in-chief expresses to the troops under his orders deep satisfaction at the results obtained up to the present by their attacks. "Twenty-five thousand prisoners, 500,000 rounds of ammunition, and material which has not yet been enumerated are the

and which is only superficial is not a test of the condition and the efficiency of the pipes as required by all responsible builders and architects. Then the architects, the building inspector and board of health inspectors were all called in and after a conference in which there was a great deal of unnecessary talk the municipal council adopted Mr. Costello's suggestion that the old pipe be tested in the way the work, the price fixed being eight dollars a day. It should be stated also that Architect Graves notified Mr. Costello in writing to stop on the new work until the old pipes had been properly tested which showed that as supervising architect he is simply protecting the city against taking chances that might prove very costly later on. The work in all such cases is invariably tested before being finally approved. The municipal council did the right thing in following Mr. Graves' advice to have the test made and Mr. Costello's advice to have it done by day work. But it was another case of backing down on the first decision when bids were called for and only one was received. Had the matter been referred to the board of health suggested then by Mr. Duncan, suspension of work and furthermore all the necessary tests would have been made without such an output of unbusinesslike talk.

George P. Alexander, who was born in this city 22 years ago and who later removed to Scotland with his mother, has enlisted as a member of the First Field Co. Royal Naval division of Engineers, and is now at the Dardanelles.

The young man graduated from the Naval academy, Durdce, as a civil engineer and when the war broke out he enlisted with five other engineers and all received their training at Dover, being sent to the Dardanelles last May. The young man in a letter sent to his father, George Alexander, writes: "I am the only one of the surviving engineers in the company and I describe the bombardment and defense of the Dardanelles as terrific.

Former Rep. Brennan last year proved to be the unlucky exception to the political rule that has existed in this state since the days of the progressives. In 19 cases out of 10 the entrance of a progressive candidate into a contest has spelled success for the democratic candidate. In Mr. Brennan's case the progressive candidate was the victor, and the result was a defeat. This year there will be no progressive candidate, and the contest will be decided by the personal strength of the candidates with Rep. Colburn having the decided advantage of the republicans in the district. During his one year term Mr. Brennan conducted himself capably and with careful regard for the interests of his district. Unlike some of his contemporaries, he did not have any special interests. He looked after those of the agriculturalists and those of the working classes of the big manufacturing establishments. In all things of a

In the 15th district Mr. Kiggins also has an excellent record of one year's stand behind him. Mr. Kiggins, a resident of Boston, has deeply interested in the future success of the town's great industry, the car shop, has made a careful study of the Boston & Maine situation, thus preparing himself in the event of his election, to take up that problem, which will come before the legislature. In a manner that will best conserve the best interests of the hundreds of men now working in his town, as employees of the Boston & Maine, the district may witness a pairing of the ways between the "heaven twins," as Messrs. Corcoran and Crowley are both hustlers and are popular with the young men in the district. The gates of blennism and blennism must be shut to the gates to Reps. Jewett and Achin, who have kept in office and will thus far have had no need of blennism elections to hold them.

lowing on the county commission contest:

"The contest for county commission of Middlesex county grows warm as the state election draws near. News in the history of the county has a democrat been elected, owing to a county ring. But now a ray of hope appears for the democrats, as the county ring is at sword's point with the republicans and the of the republican party and a big split has occurred which last Saturday's county convention in which Mr. Cutting was finally nominated hasn't healed up. The democrat nominated Michael H. O'Brien of Cambridge, in the primaries. Ha-

It is rumored that four propositions have been put up to Mr. Thompson by men who claim to represent certain influences, and who claim to have the power behind them necessary to carry out the promises they make to him.

It is said that these influences have promised to support Mr. Thompson for mayor two years hence and guarantee to elect him if he will keep out of the contest this year.

That first promise didn't bring forth an answer.

Subsequently, it is said, they went to Mr. Thompson and showed him where they have the votes necessary to elect him license commissioner next June to succeed John J. Mullaney, he will remain out of the contest this year.

There are hundreds of people in Lowell who were not the least bit surprised when they read a while ago that druggists are now selling Mi-o-na on a guarantee to refund the money in case the dyspepsia remedy does not relieve. This remarkable guarantee has produced the most lively belief the worst case of indigestion, headache, dizziness, or the general played-out condition that afflicts every sufferer with stomach trouble. Mi-o-na does not simply relieve, it aims to cure.

There is hardly a druggist but can tell you of many well-known people who, after trying this remedy has restored to health, often after they had tried many other methods of treatment, a little or no benefit. We really believe no other dyspepsia remedy has made a large percentage of cures as Mi-o-na. It is so large that doctors who have sold it for years stand ready to refund the price to any customer whom it does not help.

The best kind of advertising is the practical, word-of-mouth type. There are hundreds today praising Mi-o-na because it has done for them what is advertised to do. A few months ago they could eat nothing without suffering. Now the result would be the same. Since using Mi-o-na, the cure has come and they want and when they want no fear of suffering. This medicine comes in the form of a tablet and is very pleasant to take. It speedsily and permanently relieves all forms of stomach trouble and is the only remedy sold under a positive guarantee without any restriction, to refund the money if it does not relieve. You can get it at any drug store.

If one is to believe street political gossip, the friends of the mayor and Commissioner Morse are "throwing the hooks into" Col. Carmichael. It is also rumored that they are trying to frame up a charge in the assignment of the fire department's new headquarters, with a view to having the mayor take the fire and water departments. The big hitch is that with Morse leaving the street department Putnam will get it and they are so anxious that he doesn't get streets as they are that Morse will get fire and water. Putnam doesn't want to sustain and there may be something else.

It is also rumored that the time the department has arrived to assign the departments for next year.

There was a whole lot of talk before the municipal council Tuesday afternoon yesterday relative to the plumbing job being done on Memorial hall building by Mr. Thomas F. Costello, who has the contract for the new work. The question came on whether the pipes should be tested and when it was decided to have a test made bids were insisted upon although the work was

It should be done by the day owing to the uncertainties involved. Mr. Costello made this suggestion because he had heard rumors of leaks in pipes escaping sewer gas and vitiated air in the library that might indicate some trouble in the old pipes. But as the bids were insisted upon Mr. Costello put in a bid of $600, sufficient to cover all the possibilities that might arise. That was the only bid received and when objection was raised to the amount Mr. Costello again suggested that as there was a good deal of uncertainty as to the condition of the old pipes and as to the amount of work that would be required, it would be much better to make a lump sum for the day, charging for labor and material. In this way he believed that the cost to the city would not be as much.

Mayor Murphy then put the board of health inspectors on the job and for a time held that no other test was necessary, as Inspectors Gerrity and Connor found nothing wrong with the pipes. But Mr. Costello insisted on a general inspection to which, as default in the

Local Suffrage Sentiment

A newspaper man who has been taking straw ballots on the question of women's suffrage, for his paper, said to me yesterday: "I think that somebody is 'kidding' the suffragettes. They are voting strongly in favor of suffrage on straw ballots, and yet the sentiment that I have heard in my travels is that in Lowell, at least, the movement will be defeated."

"The results from New Jersey, even from President Wilson's own precinct would tend to show that elsewhere the dear creatures are being 'snooked' by the sterner sex. Here in Lowell the women are ready to give the majority voting for members of the school board. In 1912 female registration took a great boom and yet there are only 7111 registered women in Lowell. At last year's city election only 4637 of them went to the polls, a little more than half the number of the whole number. With our large French population, there are only 326 French-American women enrolled as voters. Ward 5, the big French ward, so-called, has but 116, while ward 7 has 125. These figures would indicate an indifference to the cause of women on themselves and unless the women get out and hustle for the cause they can never expect the men to vote for the movement.

However, there's many a man in Lowell, who proudly and loudly boasts that he will wear no man's collar, who nevertheless has been called on to suffrage by one who also wears no man's collar—his wife."
